WHERE TO FIND SOME OF LAST YEAR'S GRADUATES

Indiana Claims Greatest Number

This is what happened to the senior graduates of last year. Bob Bartz, Paul Bumann, Dick Brotherson, John Keller, are staying here and attending the University of Notre Dame.

Flo Ann Bennet, entered nurses training at Memorial Hospital while her classmates Joan Coquillard, Maryvonne Rose, began training at St. Joseph Hospital. Betty McKinney and Betty Johnson are taking the same training in the Mishawaka Hospital.

Sydelle Baskind went to seek higher learning at the University of Michigan as did George Swintz, while James Bomberger went to Northwestern.

James Cox, Bill Reinke and Lynn Wright were admitted to Wabash.

The others are Jane Buchanan, Ward-Belmont; Martha Craig, Cottey; Marian Densmore, Stephens; Betty Dunbar, Chicago Art Institute; Nancy Ellsworth, Western Michigan; Nancy Flickinger, Duke College for Women; Laurence Grundy, University of Cincinnati; Jeannette Jackson, Hanover; Ann Kohlbrenner, Nazareth College; Nancy King, Wesleyan in Ga.; Clarence Myers, Carthage; Tom Lane, Rochester; Don Simon, Arizona; Dorothy Smith, Tennessee State; Shirley Williams, Iowa State; Bud Witt, Georgia Tech.; June Zesinger, Monticello; and Barbara Clayton, Mary Baldwin.

LEAD CHEERS FOR ADAM'S B-TEAM

The idea of having "B-Team" cheerleaders at Adams is new this year and up to now seems quite successful. All of the present varsity cheerleaders are seniors and when they graduate these beginners, if they make good, will have a full time job. The "B-Team" cheerleaders are Marcia Dausman, Shelia Fitzsimmons, Pearl Coffman, and Kelly Kindig. During the football season they took turns cheering at football games and now lead the yells at the B-team basketball games. Their uniforms are those the varsity cheerleaders wore last year and next year if they are able to meet the requirements they will be wearing the familiar red and blue uniforms which denote the position of varsity yell-leaders.

THE DEBT IS PAID! ADAMS NOW BELONGS TO US

John Adams High School is now debt free. With the payment made November 30, 1948, the bonded indebtedness against John Adams was removed.

The total cost was $739,579.00. Of this amount $317,878.00 were grants through the P.W.A. from the federal government. The financing of the building is an example of the program initiated by Superintendent Allen some years ago known as the pay-as-you-go plan. This eliminates a tremendous overhead in interest payment and aids in maintaining a constant bond rate for the School City of South Bend.

DR. FRITH WILL SPEAK TO GIRLS HEALTH CLASSES

Health lecture classes for girls will be held December 13, 14, 15, 16, and 17. Dr. Gladys Frith will be the guest instructor. The classes will be held in rooms 208 and 209. There will also be films and discussion.

Boys in the morning health classes will meet with Mr. Koss in the Mezzanine of the cafeteria. Mrs. Fogt will meet with the boys of the fourth hour Health class in the Mezzanine of the cafeteria and the boys of her sixth hour class in room 109.

MYSTERY MISS

The picture of the "Mystery Miss" and her identifier does not appear in this issue of the Tower due to the fact that there was a little light on the film.

DRAMA CLUB ATTENDS GREEK PLAY; MEDEA

The members of the John Adams Drama Club took their annual trip to Chicago on Saturday, December 4. The group left on the 6:50 South Shore and arrived in Chicago at GAL FIVE—Adams 9:00. Most of the students spent the next two hours Christmas shopping at Marshall Field's. Lunch was eaten at Field's Tearoom.

At 1:45 the students met at the Blackstone Theater where they saw Judith Anderson in the Greek tragedy, "Medea."

The group with Miss Kaczmarek and Mr. Rothermel caught the 5:10 "Shoppers' Special." They arrived here at 7:30.

G. A. A. HOLDS INITIATION IN LITTLE THEATER

The G. A. A. held formal initiation services on November 17. The club enjoyed a dinner served in the Home Economics laboratory. After dinner the group adjourned to the Little Theater for the beautiful candle-light initiation service.

Gold pins attached to red and blue ribbons, the colors of the club, and red roses were presented to Carol DeClark, Shirley Burke, Pat Callahan, Carol Cameron, Darlene Scherer, Karma Kuemmerle, Rosalie Keilman, Donna Miller, Johanna Jaffee, and Phyllis Gustafson as they became members of the Girls' Athletic Association.

HI-Y HANDLES CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE THIS YEAR

Christmas Seals Fight T.B.

Last Monday, December 6, officially marked the opening of an extensive drive to sell Christmas seals. This drive is sponsored at John Adams by the Hi-Y.

Our home rooms heard from members of public speaking classes, who acted as solicitors for the sale of Christmas seals. Actual sale of seals is managed by the Hi-Y members and certain representatives of the home room.

The sale of Christmas seals is a charitable act brought about every year for the purpose of fighting tuberculosis. The success of this year's campaign in John Adams depends on the generosity of the students.

Last year's quota was $238.00. This year we are going to wind up with a total contribution that we can be proud of. We are all urged to support this worthy cause.

WRESTLING, MUSIC AND PLAY NEWS FROM SCHOOLS

CENTRAL — The Grunt and Groners are in practice for the coming season. This organization is better known as the Central wrestlers and some very fine wrestlers it has! They are under the direction of Mr. Robert Jones.

RILEY—Driver Training Course has met with whole-hearted approval at Riley. Mr. Meyer has been taking his students out to the Mishawaka Hills to show them the fundamentals of sportsmanlike driving.

The Austrian Drive which was started by the Student Council this fall has had very good results so far. Up to this point over 200 packages have been donated to the needy children in the two schools they have adopted in Austria. The drive will continue until the desired amount of clothing and food has been secured.

MISHAWAKA—The Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Lucine Jones will give its annual Christmas Vespers on December 12. The Glee Club is divided into two groups, both of which will take part in the Vesper Service.

WASHINGTON—Tonight is the night of the Washington all-school play, Jane Eyre. It will be presented on Friday night also. There will be two entirely different casts for each performance. The play, directed by Miss Gertrude Fortin, is a very serious play and the cast has done some very hard work on it.

REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR?

"Oh, remember the day teacher caught Johnnie stealing chalk back in kindergarten? Don't trust him!" Silly you say? Sure, but yet it happens every day. If everyone felt the same way, Johnnie would grow up friendless, and probably revert to crime as a form of revenge on the society that shunned him. Yet, if people just watch him carefully, he may grow up to be a leading citizen. About this time every year out comes the old call "REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR."

Isn't it about time we stopped shouting it? We all have something personal to remember about that episode in American History, so why do we need to confer with other people to find out their woes. A country, or a nation, maybe just a whole lot of little Johnnies think they deserve something from the world and have to wage war to get it. We can remember Pearl Harbor of course, but let's be quiet about it and observe that day with reverence, remembering not that we have to protect ourselves from it happening again, but who fell there.

After all, talk is no form of protection. The only time it helps is when a little child is shut up and afraid of the dark. Are we afraid of the dark? We shouldn't be. Let's try just watching silently, instead of trying to drum up trade by shouting our wares. After all someone might want to see just how good our wares are. REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR? Yes!, but do it silently.

—Dale Litherland

THIS IS WHAT I THINK ABOUT —

Do you remember a couple of Mondays ago when we had a guest speaker talking to us on the topic "Manners"? I have been thinking very seriously about one statement that he made. I challenge him. He said that he could always pick out a criminal in a crowd because of his sly actions and the way he always looked around. I know that this isn't true of only a criminal.

Did you ever watch certain girls and certain boys when assembly time comes? Each sits there being very sly and looking for the other one. This is true of the seniors especially because they always seem to choose an underclassman for a companion and are unable to sit with him or her.

Now, if one can't find the other one in the crowd she or he is very unhappy and can hardly concentrate on the assembly but if they do pick each other out in the crowd everything is just fine except they can't concentrate then either because . . . because, well, you know.

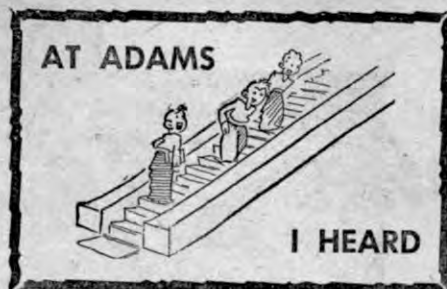

Oh, but wait that isn't all! There is also the girl or boy who just sits and stares and pines his or her heart out for the certain person who won't even give him a glance. My, what goes on in assembly.

Don't you agree with me that it isn't only a criminal's privilege to be sly and glance around?

—Katie Reasor

Woman (telephoning) — "Oh, doctor, please hurry over! My husband is in such pain. It's his head. He's had it on and off all day. Right now he's sitting, holding it in his hands between his knees."

—The Philosopher, Lew Wallace High School, Gary, Ind.

Doraann Bowman had a pleasant Thanksgiving vacation — especially the part that she spent with Kent Brown (Purdue).

Dorothy King just goes from one "Bob" to another. Lately she has been dating Bob Revere.

Dale Litherland is still writing special delivery letters and making phone calls to someone who is a freshman at I. U.

Betty Lackman is anxiously awaiting the arrival of Chuck Roth who will be home from the Marines for a few days. Joan Drake is dating a Marine too, Don Brayton, an Adams graduate.

Melba Lackman is engaged to Louie Parr. It was three weeks Saturday that they reached the agreement.

Janet Kurtz has been going with "Bud" from Mishawaka and Neil VanHouten has been keeping Connie Lamont busy.

Jack Pinckert's worries in Civics class are over. He has now found a girl who interests him in the person of Myrajene Lea.

Rosie and Dunk have legally broken up.

Seen together quite often are: Don Truex and Nancy Watson, Elaine Rolfe and Ed Davis.

Added to the steady list are Jim Nevins and Jeanette Mueller.

A recent hayride found these couples together: Shirley Gorsuch and Jerry Cassidy; Betty Gudates and Don Hevel; Jack Dickson and Ava Kronich.

Wonder why Dick always gives Katie Null such a sweet smile. It wouldn't be because he has a fancy for her, would it?

Gene Buchanan has lost his ring to Kantorowski. They're now going steady.

HERE'S ONE WHO WON'T JUMP TO CONCLUSIONS

Last Friday after getting my meager weekly allowance, I decided to splurge and eat at my favorite restaurant, Clark's. I wormed my way in through the crowd and finally obtained a booth. After ordering, I became conscious of two mysterious voices coming from the booth behind me. I really and truly tried not to listen but my curiosity got the best of me.

One of the men asked the other if he had any ideas. He said he could not decide whether to use a knife or a gun. The other man said a knife would be better since it was more gruesome. I thought my imagination was running away with itself, but it became more definite that I was witnessing the planning of a murder!!! Chills ran through my body and I was more excited than when I saw Vaughn Monroe. Here was my chance to be a great detective just like Sam Spade. I was too scared to turn around and look at the men, so I just sat there in silence and listened. I got all the information. They were to meet at 7:00. They set their watches so there would be no mix-up of time.

CHRISTMAS BRINGS SORROW WITH ITS JOYS

Imagine yourself a floorwalker in a busy department store. The Christmas season is approaching rapidly and everyone is shopping like mad to beat the deadline. Young and old are out braving the crowds and many incidents catch your eye.

While strolling through "Men's Wear" you see a pretty young girl pondering over the sweater counter. As you pass by you hear the clerk (trying to locate the proper size) saying, "How big a boy is this for?"

The young lady replies, "Oh, he is real tall, has brown hair, blue eyes, and (sigh!) the widest shoulders."

Since this conversation gets nauseating you wander up one aisle and down another. Soon you notice a little boy about four years old rubbing his cheek against a woman's fur coat sleeve. This woman casts an inquiring glance at the little boy's mother who is scolding him. You hear the boy's mother say to the other lady, "Please excuse junior, he just loves to feel soft fur and will rub a fur coat whenever he sees one. It is terribly embarrassing at times."

Proceeding on your way you mumble, "Some people's kids!" The next counter you approach is cosmetics. Here a teen-age boy in tapered cords and a flashy shirt is looking over the lipstick supply. A variety of colors is on the counter and it is evidently a tough decision what shade of lipstick he should buy. The aggravated elderly clerk is saying, "I'm sure that any shade you purchase would be appreciated. Don't you have any idea which one she wears?"

"No," says the young man, "but I have an idea! Could you match this?" Pulling a handkerchief out of his pocket he displays a red smudge. Leaving the flabbergasted clerk and the gentleman you proceed on your way.

The aisles are blocked by chattering women, runaway youngsters and happy young people. By this time you will probably be ready to go home as it is 5:30 so don't let me stop you.

—Shirley Rogers

"We have everything on the menu today, sir," the waitress said.

"So I see," replied the customer. "How about a clean one?"

—The Bark, East Palestine High School, East Palestine, O.

They had decided on using a hatchet instead of a knife. And then my heart actually turned a flip. The man said he didn't see why two men couldn't be killed instead of one.

The two gangsters got up and I followed. As they were paying their checks I heard one man say, "Be sure you get there on time. This radio show must last only fifteen minutes." It was then I realized I had overheard plans for a radio show, not a murder.

To remember it now practically drives me crazy. Just think I left a banana split on the table without being touched just because I was so curious.

FACTS ABOUT THE FACULTY BY FEARLESS

This week I am going to focus my beacon upon Mr. Volney Weir, otherwise known as He of the Pep-sodent Smile or that one of the Patient Countenance. He manages (?) a group of tenth graders in room 108, and also teaches mathematics in that room.

Have you noticed the loud ties our own Mr. Weir has started to wear only recently? If you haven't, believe me, you must be color blind. The only other place I have seen so much green, red, and white gathered together all at once is at Christmas time. Speaking of Christmas, maybe that's when he received those resplendent remnants and has not had nerve enough to bury them. Honestly, they are so bad, I haven't been able to look straight at him for weeks now. After all only a fool would deliberately blind himself.

You know, Mr. Sargent ought to know Mr. Weir prefers to teach Physics instead of forcing him to teach Mathematics when he so wants to let loose with Science. This year's Algebra students know whereof I speak. There is one particular physics formula that he is absolutely crazy about. He doesn't let a day go by but that he makes up some excuse to use it. It has something to do with how long it takes a falling object to hit the ground. When he starts out by saying: "Suppose there is an airplane at 10,000 feet and a person jumps out on a day when there is no wind resistance . . . now, with gravity at 34 feet per second it will take . . ." Mr. Weir should certainly be teaching physics.

Like so many of our teachers, Mr. Weir has pictures hanging in his room. Naturally these pictures have nothing to do with Mathematics, that would be unheard of. They are little sketches of snow-falls, Lincoln, battleships, airplanes (Now we're back to that Physics formula), fall scenes, and the like. Just to give a Mathematics touch to his otherwise artistic room, Mr. Weir has put some algebraic charts on his bulletin board. Now these charts have been here as long as I have and apparently longer since they are a little curled around the edges, and I assure you they will never be removed as Mr. Weir is the power to say no.

Mr. Weir usually has some sort of problem on his black board which students may or may not work. For this reason, I have yet to meet someone who has done one of these problems. They are always rather difficult; let me illustrate with one I especially remember.

Q. Mr. Jones gives Mrs. Jones $6. She purchases three bunches of celery at 17 cents each, and two oranges and an apple at 46 cents a pound. How much change does she give back to Mr. Jones?

A. Are you kidding?

Mr. Weir's greatest virtue is his patience, but I believe that is his main fault too. After all, we students think we are adult, and we are in most ways for even they will try to get away with something as long as they can. Clamp down, Mr. Weir, and see if you don't notice a change in some of those people to whom you gave an "M" in attitude. Remember many of us still have to be told.

Next week: Miss Roell.

Helpful Hints For The Conscientious Miss

While we girls have a little chit-chat about the duties of being beautiful, why don't you boys glance over to the sports section of our gazette. We don't want you masculine characters to know what makes the girls at Adams so beautiful.

There's a saying that beauty is only skin deep. Well let's make the most of that beauty. All of us can improve our looks in some way or another. You can learn little tricks that will make you prettier than you are.

For you chicks with the invisible brows and lashes, touch them up with a bit (just a little) of brown mascara. This will make your face more expressive. A warning to those who have a tendency to use too much make up; an overdose of mascara will make you appear to be a refugee from a coal bin.

Don't gloat over your misfortune of having a heavy square jaw. Ask for a $2 increase in your allowance to buy some darker foundation and powder. Then apply this to shade the corners of your jaw. This will make your face look more nearly oval and more feminine.

The nose is another important feature which can ruin your looks if you don't know how to care for it. If your nose is broad the darker foundation will be useful again. Stroke down each side of your nose and blend the dark foundation with the lighter foundation.

Andy Gump is a comical character in the funnies but when his slumping chin is blessed upon some poor unsuspecting human we have to do something about it. To make this error of Mother Nature less noticeable use lighter powder and foundation on the area surrounding the receding chin. Style your hair so you will have a bang puffed out over your brow and pull your hair back so as reveal your ears. You'll find the effect very appealing.

Shading of powder and foundation, correct hair styles, and other beauty tips will help make you look prettier than you are.

Death sends his challenge in a gray hair.—Arabic Proverb.

THE JOY OF BEING AN EDITOR

Getting out this magazine is no picnic.

If we print jokes, people say we are silly.

If we don't they say we are too serious.

If we stick close to the office all day,

We ought to be around hunting news.

If we go out and try to hustle,

We ought to be on the job in the office.

If we don't print contributions,

We don't appreciate genius;

And if we do print them, the paper is filled with junk!

If we edit the other fellow's write-up we're too critical;

If we don't, we're asleep.

If we clip things from other papers,

We are too lazy to write them ourselves.

If we don't we are stuck on our own stuff.

Now, like as not, some guy will say

We swiped this from some magazine.*

* We did!

FLOODLIGHT

I know that all of you students here at Adams who don't know JOE HOWELL would like to hear a little dope on his personal life. That is exactly what I am here for so without further adieu "I give you in this corner wearing the purple trunks" Joe Howell! As any person can plainly see his favorite hobby is sports. Asked which was his favorite he answered, "the sport I am in at the time is my favorite." He stands 5' 11" in his stocking feet and he told me that he never had too much time to eat but that Roast Beef would serve the purpose. As for the subject he likes the best his answer was History. He likes the color tan the best and likes girls who are beautiful but also they must have brains. He said that he didn't like dumb women.

SPOTLIGHT

MEL EDGERTON is the smiling faced Junior that everyone sees in the hall. He has blue eyes that sparkle and a personality to match. He stands 6' 1" in his stocking feet and that should come in very handy when basketball season rolls around. Speaking of basketball that is also his favorite sport and his hobby. His best subject is Mathematics. As for the food he likes the best—it's steak. He likes quiet girls so all you noisy ones who hope to get on the inside had better tone down just a notch or two. He wouldn't give me the entertainment angle but if you watch him closely wherever you see Hank Hukill you will always find "Edge" nearby.

FLASHLIGHT

In this week's Flashlight we have the boy so many of you upper-class girls are swooning over. His name is FRED HELMAR. In his bare feet he stands about 5' 10". He has brown hair and eyes. He is out for basketball. That sport really seems to be on the menu today. The subject he feels the most at home in is Science. (Here comes another one, Reber!) The food he likes to eat the most of is ice-cream. His favorite color is blue. The only club he has joined so far is Hi-Y but he is planning to join some others. He is very undecided about the type of girl he likes but one thing for sure is that sophisticated ones might just as well give up, because for sure, he doesn't like them!

For Actual Info. About This Class See a Graduate

If you see seniors rushing madly down the hall you can be sure they are going to 210. In this spacious, quiet room their most beloved subject, Civics, is taught. Even though students are not required to sit in their seats at any time during the year, they rush to class to receive a piece of bubble-gum, which is passed out at the beginning of the period. This gum is to be chewed while the class is in session. Room 210 is the only perfect acoustical room in John Adams. Even while the fans are running the dropping of a pin can be heard.

If students have to be excused from a class to appointments outside school, they always make these appointments during Civics. The Civics teacher is always very happy to excuse them, and never requires that the work be made up.

Be sure to take Civics before you graduate from John Adams.

Just try to graduate without it. It's required!

PANTHERS MAUL EAGLES IN THIRD GAME OF SEASON

The John Adams Eagles lost their second game in a row on their home floor last Tuesday to Washington 55-36. The score was an indication of the game as Adams was never in the game. Washington jumped off to a 5-0 score in the first few minutes and then quickly jumped up to a 12-2 lead. Adams quickly countered with two buckets to trail 12-6, but that was the closest the Eagles could get to a red-hot Panther team that has won two straight games now. Last week they eked out a 38-34 win over New Carlisle.

Washington led at the end of the first quarter 20-7, but cooled down a little in the second period scoring only 11 points, but all Adams was able to garner was 3 points. The score at half time was 31-10.

John Adams led by the Truexs, who did not start the game because they had missed the last few days of practice, outscored Washington in the second half 26-24, but Washington had too much of a lead. Adams starting lineup consisted of Dick Bennett, Don Oakes, Jim Nevins, Joe Howell and Dick Moore. Besides the Truexs', others who saw action were Marlin Miller and Mel Edgerton.

Don Truex, although he played only the last half, led the Adams scorers with 11 points.

AS I SEE IT By JOHN HORVATH

The high school sporting world is centered entirely on basketball with the teams getting into shape. Some of the players have already lost some of their tactics that they were up against in football. Right here at Adams the starting lineup shows a great deal of improvement since the opening game. This year also looks like the Central team is tops in the league but with basketball full of upsets it is hard to tell who will hold the upper hand.

Dick Truex started out the season with a bang as he has scored twenty-eight points in two games for an average of fourteen points per game. Also I would like to offer my apologies to Hank Hukill and Mel Edgerton for not mentioning them in my basketball preview. I don't want to offer any excuses but I ran out of paper, and my typewriter broke down and various other things happened to my mind in order to bring about a mistake like this. The boys are both swell players and they deserve recognition.

Last week the Eagles traveled to Gary to meet up with a Lew Wallace quintet. The outcome of the trip was a 31-29 victory on the part of the Eagles. The game was a nip and tuck affair all the way and some sixteen points compiled by Dick Truex was the deciding factor in the result of the score in our favor.

Think of ease, but work on.

Recognition goes to Jim Nevins as he was named on the South Bend Tribune Twin City All Star Team. The results of the ballots put Jim on a first string end position. This is an award of great glory and Jim is my nomination to fulfill every point of the job. Also named on the second team at end, was Dave Hyde.

Ben Robert Staton now has given up all hope of playing any sports. He cannot even play a two hand tap game of football because his mind is always on a certain girl from Mishawaka. Do not affiliate this column with the Lovelorn column, but I am paid to print such things, right Bob.

Most readers that I have talked to stated that the humor parts prove interesting and it stops the monotony of all organized sports. I therefore shall strive to make the column more interesting by adding a little bit of each category.

With basketball season in full swing there again arises the question of intramural basketball. In the past, Mr. Reber has taken charge of the affair and if there are enough boys interested in the program he may again accept the job. I am in favor of the home room teams and I think that there could be some good teams to really get the old hotstove league back into swing.

Friday night Adams will play host to a LaPorte quintet in a conference tilt on the Adams hardwood. I do not have any information on LaPorte but they usually come up with a powerful squad. Remember the date Friday, December 10; season tickets will be recognized. I also want to comment on the sudden uprise of cheering at the first game. This shows that the students are really behind the team and this is something to be proud of.
