Commercial Majors To Vie for Award

Offered for First Time.

Seniors who have majored in Business Education in the four public high schools in South Bend will be eligible this year for an award which is being made available for the first time by the South Bend chapter of the NATIONAL OFFICE MANAGEMENT ASSOCIATION.

The award is in the form of a medal to be given to a boy and to a girl in each high school graduating class who has done outstanding work in the field of business education. Of first consideration will be the grade record of the eligible students. However, since grades alone do not always foretell or guarantee success in the business world, other factors are being taken into consideration in the making of the awards.

These other factors include the attendance record, the extra curricular activities participated in and offices or positions of responsibility held in the organizations, the work experience while in high school, a general rating by the Home Room teacher, a teacher of the student's choice, the business teacher having the longest contact with the student and finally an interview record by a business man in South Bend who will check the prospective candidate for the award on the following points: Appearance, Personality, Speech, Poise, Mental Reaction, Maturity, and any other points the interviewer wishes to add.

After the above checks have been made, the Business Education teachers in the respective high schools will select the boy and the girl who best meet the requirements which have been listed.

Tonight, in the gym, the John Adams Dance Band will play for the Monogram Club's annual Sox-Hop. There will be a door prize, whether or not for the best pair of socks no one knows. Lots of good music and gaiety are guaranteed.

Sue Smith, editor-in-chief, has announced that the Album staff has written "30" to the 1950 Album. Mr. and Miss Adams will greet you from its pages sometime in May.

Juniors are working hard these days on the "Stardust Cafe." "Annual" seems to be the word at this time of the year, this being the third such Junior party. Tickets are now on sale and at the present are limited to Juniors. The sale will later be opened to seniors and possibly sophomores.

Auditions were held for the floor show on April 10, in the Little Theater. Pat Cassady and Phil Whitmer were in charge of the try-outs. ADAMS TAKES SECOND IN BAND CONTEST

FINAL PREPARATIONS MADE BY JUNIORS FOR "CAFE"

Final arrangements are now being made for the Third Annual Stardust Cafe to be sponsored by the Junior class April 29. Tickets went on sale Monday to Junior homerooms at 50 cents per couple. The remaining tickets will be sold among Seniors and Sophomores. Reserved table tickets are 70 cents extra.

Fred Helmer is directing the overall arrangements with Pat Cassady and Phil Whitmer in charge of entertainment. Tryouts were held at which talent from any class could participate and then the best were selected. The dance band under the direction of Mr. Deardorff will play and a floor show of local talent will highlight the evening.

The John Adams Band placed second in Class B competition at the Northern Indiana Band, Orchestra, and Choral Contest held last Saturday in LaPorte. However, the band won first in the sightreading contest, playing music that was "fresh off the presses."

The band placed second to one of the state's outstanding organizations, Hobart. Two of the judges gave Adams seconds, and the third rated the fifty-two piece group in the first division. Hobart received three firsts. However, Adams and Hobart were the only two bands in the class to score firsts.

Class B is without a doubt the stiffest competition in the contest. Adams must compete against such outstanding bands as Hobart, Hunt-

GIVE US A CHANCE, ADULTS!

We students still look back with a sort of triumph upon that evening that a certain Communist organizer's well-laid plans were smashed by a group of South Bend high-schoolers.

This incident beautifully illustrates the fact that, contrary to universal adult opinion, teen-agers are not the extremely irresponsible, carefree, date-crazy Joes and Janes that they are represented as being.

Adults certainly do not look very closely at us to see what makes us tick. Too often they don't realize that there is another side to us teen-agers, just as any building has more than one side or it would be useless.

They don't realize that we teen-agers want to be successful, that we have ideals, that we have a great interest in world and national affairs. We too want to help improve this world; we enjoy classics, fine art and healthful recreation; we're aware of what is going on around us. In fact, we know more about life than we are credited for.

If adults would cease putting us on a level with juvenile delinquents, reckless automobile drivers, and Be Bop fans; if they would look for our accomplishments in school clubs, church groups and scout troops; if they would realize that we too have high ideals, a desire for education, and a desire to be given more responsibility than we have now, they would be seeing American youth in a more reasonable perspective. For the same reason we don't look condescendingly upon all adults as being political machine bosses, gamblers, hold-up men, and Russian spies.

Why pass judgment on an entire generation after magnifying the qualities of a few, or only some of the actions of all of them?

Give the younger generation a chance to show where it really stands.
--David James.

Club Membership Adds to School Life

Extra curricular activities are a very important part of the school life. It seems that there is an activity to suit everyone's interests. It is advisable for everyone to participate in at least one of these many activities.

These outside groups are a place where one may obtain the instruction of school officials without the strict atmosphere of the classroom. Valuable information and 'know how' can be obtained here which might not be available outside of school. Often the very type of training one needs for his occupation is found in one of these activities. For instance Drama Club for an acting hopeful or this paper for a journalist-to-be would furnish fine experience.

School sponsored organizations provide an often much needed diversion from the usual routine of everyday school life.

These organizations teach one to work with others in a group, to become part of a team. The interests of individuals are sacrificed for the benefit of the whole group. This attitude is especially necessary in music and on the athletic team.

If a person is not skilled in any sort of school work, in one of these activities he may find a field in which he may excel. In such a case this experience would be an important factor in building a person's confidence in himself.

Don't you wish that last week's weather would go away somewhere and maybe bother the Russians for a while? Despite the weather, happy couples gathered together last week-end and danced to soft, beautiful music at the Palais Royale and never once thought of the weather. Ken Dillon and Carol Jones were there. Jo Tarr was with Duane Rowe, Rosie Schubert with Bill Deiter, Rai Lowell with Bob Pfaff, Rojean Bakos with John Helvey, Joyce Timothy with Fred LaCosse and here's a couple who dated each other in the 8th grade: Sheila Fitzsimmons and Roy Tepe. Gerald and Harold Graf both had dates with girls named Jo. That must have been double, double trouble that evening. The girls respectively were Jo Walke and Jo Jaffee.

The Charity Ball is a benefit dance that also took place last week-end. Flower girls representing Adams were Barb Turk, who was with Dave Sanderson, Carolyn Johnson with Paul Bumann, and Allene White with Al Fuller.

Couples that we aren't quite accustomed to yet and who have been seen around lately are: Sharon Chambers and John Meyer, Marg Carter and Dan Miller, Tom Warrick and Betty Solbrig, Pat Arisman and Jim Brennan, Miriam Bender and Wayne Woodward, and Jim Sears and Sue Hastings.

The couples not seen together quite so much any more are: Shirley Callaway and Tom Masters from Mishawaka, Pat Denyes and Dan Rich, Mary Ann Kennedy and Jack Brown (Riley), and Nancy Cleghorn and Roger Bennett.

We are glad to see Fritz Cleghorn back to school. He's been out of the weather, but under the weather just a little.

Did you notice that in the morning before the 8:30 bell rings, no matter what is happening on the stage or on the gym floor, the same couples lose their locker fatigue and get the mezzanine fatigue? The people usually seen there are: Mickey Henion and Jon Clause, Dot De Pree and Bill Baranowski, Donna Miller and Bud Schwalm, Barb Moppin and Bill Calvin, Sandra Zimmerman and Bill Daugherty and yours truly trying to see if anybody new is there.

ROELL ATTENDS IHSPA MEETING

Twelve schools were represented at the District meeting of the Indiana High School Press Association on Saturday, April 15, when the advisers convened at Peru High School. Miss Roell attended the meeting. She acquired new ideas which you will find in future Towers. She also stated that she was proud to be able to exhibit the Tower along with newspapers from many other schools. In many instances the paper is the project of a journalism class where the students have an opportunity to go into the study of putting out a paper while Adams is purely extra-curricular.

FACULTY FUN

Mr. Powell spent his vacation doing a variety of things in a variety of places. His first stop was in Franklin, Indiana, where he visited his parents. Then he went to Shelbyville to visit his father-in-law. His trip ended in Indianapolis, where his wife did a little shopping and Mr. Powell spent some time in an Army Surplus store looking for some things in the camping line. Planning to go camping on your next Easter vacation, Mr. Powell?

Mrs. McClure had a very, very interesting vacation. She "baby-sat" with her grandchildren. Children are interesting, aren't they Mrs. McClure?

Mr. Nelson not only can help you with Geometry and Algebra, but also can give you helpful hints for spring house-cleaning. He did get out to the airport for lunch one noon, though.

Miss Kaczmarak spent the Easter vacation recuperating from "Wild-flower." She slept and also played a very relaxing game, Bridge.

Mr. Swartz, "hard-worker" that he is, worked during his vacation. He had his fun too, though. Yes, he had lots of fun building a fence around his yard.

Miss Bennett made a tour of the South, going to New Orleans and Biloxi, Mississippi. Five university campuses, Louisiana State, Tulane, Loyola of the South, Mississippi and Alabama were interesting spots for Miss Bennett. She thought the most beautiful part of the week-long jaunt was the old southern homes at Natchez, Mississippi.

Junior T. B. League Receives Adams Members

The Junior Tuberculosis League welcomed Adams' two new members at its new-members meeting. Margie Granat of 109 and John Smith of 210 who will be Adams representatives next year seemed to be very much interested in the Junior League and its work.

A film was shown at the meeting about the actual experiences of a man who had T. B., who was cured in a sanatorium, and who lived a normal life after his special care at the hospital. Mrs. Marion Brown, the League's adult adviser, reviewed some of the facts about T. B. so that all the representatives and new members can answer your questions about T. B.

To show their interest in the work of the Tuberculosis League, our Junior League members were on the job keeping things running smoothly while the X-ray unit was X-raying Adams juniors and athletes. This was only one chance that they had to help find T. B. and arrest it.

Eager Adams Thinlies Place Second Only To Central

Last Saturday afternoon School Field was the setting for the city outdoor track meet. South Bend Central had little trouble scoring 76 1/3 points for the first place title. The Eagles trailed behind Central for a second place. They clinched 37 1/3 points to maintain a second, but were a far fling from the first place Central. Riley was close on Adams heels with 30 1/2 points while Washington took the consolation prize with 21 1/2 points. Adams may not have beaten the winner but they succeeded in gaining four firsts, six seconds, one third, and two fourths.

Adams won a first in the 120-yd. high hurdles. Dickinson gained the first with a time of 17.5. In the 100-yard dash Netzel finished fourth. Daugherty captured a second in the broad jump. Kinsinger placed second in the high jump. Beebe tied for first place with a Riley and Central participant in the pole vault while Smith of Adams grabbed a second in the same event. Ohlheiser placed second in the 440-yard dash after leading most of the way. Bussert captured a first in the 880-yard run. In the 200-yard low hurdles Smith took second and Dickinson clinched a third. Adams placed fourth in the mile relay and second in the 880-yard relay.

The main speaker of the evening at the basketball banquet, Herbert Reed, presented a very fine slant on athletics. He said what is learned on the basketball floor is an asset to future success in life. He stated three requisites a boy must have in order to be successful. Aptitude, good attitude, and a plan for being a better athlete. He urged those present never to quit under pressure, but to see matters through and the rewards would come.

BASKETBALL TEAM FETED AT BANQUET

Basketball is now a closed book. The banquet honoring this year's players for the accomplishments they performed for John Adams has been completed, having been held at the Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church last April 17. Some said this ninth annual banquet would be merely a formality, but those in attendance will bear witness to the fact that this affair was indeed an evening of education.

The proceedings of the evening as per usual began with the invocation which was given by Reverend E. W. Brueseke upon his presentation by Mel Edgerton, president of the Monogram Club. Following a delightful dinner prepared by the ladies of the church, the series of introductions began with the presentation of Bob Towner as the toastmaster. He in turn introduced Forest Wood, Director of Physical Education and Health in the School City; and Paul Boehm, his able assistant.

Next on the schedule was the introduction of John Adams' recently retired coach, Harry Koss. The varsity squad was then presented and the players in turn made known their parents. Likewise the "B" team and managers were introduced by Coach Rollo Neff. Mr. Neff spoke briefly on the valor of some of the retiring senior managers, Elliot Weinberg's good deeds. He praised the "B" team for its undying spirit and lack of complaint.

At this point Marlin Miller, captain of this year's Eagle squad, made the presentation of a twelve dollar gift certificate to Mr. Koss to further his photography activities and a certificate of the same amount to Mr. Neff for fishing outlets, on behalf of the team's appreciation of the coach's guidance. Dick Bennett was honored by being given the Kiwanis Award. L. R. Chreist made the presentation and explained its meaning.

The main speaker of the program, Herbert (Buck) Read is very well known as a past coach at Western Michigan and now for his activities in furthering athletics. The subject of his address was "Basketball as a Sport and as an Education."

This year's basketball team and managers consisted of:

Varsity: Richard Bennett, Kenneth Dillon, Melvin Edgerton, Marlin Miller, Captain; Richard Moore, Don Oakes, Robert Pfaff, Larry Soellinger, Jock Troeger, Martin Weissert.

"B" team: Don Acton, Richard Beebe, William Dieter, Rocky Ferraro, Fred LaCosse, Cuyler Miller, Richard Nidiffer, Bruce Parker, Richard Peterson, Richard Shenenberger, Jerry Thompson, James Wenger.
