Schools To Sponsor Book Festival

The Adams Library, together with the Art department, English classes, and Printing classes is taking part in the planning of the Spring Book Festival, to be held in the Nuner School Auditorium the week of March 1-20. These groups are preparing posters to be distributed throughout the schools and public places to publicize this event. A list of titles of favorite books is being compiled by all English classes and will be distributed at the exhibit.

This Book Festival, sponsored by the schools and libraries of South Bend, Mishawaka, and St. Joseph County, is to acquaint teachers, parents, and students with the type of current books available from outstanding publishers.

The display of 450 books comes from twenty-five outstanding publishers and contains books from kindergarten through twelfth grade level. It is open to the public and class visitation is encouraged.

Many activities are planned for the week, one of which is a tea sponsored by the P. T. A. of St. Joseph County for Tuesday from two until five. Eunice Young Smith, author of "Jennifer's Wish" and whose daughter, Sharon Smith, writes "Buttons and Beaux" for the South Bend Tribune, will be an honored guest.

New Lathes Installed

The Board of Education has just installed thirteen new fourteen-inch South Bend Lathes in our machine shop. Still our instructors find it hard to accommodate all the students wanting to take shop. Mr. Dickey and Mr. Davis have on an average of twenty-six students in each of their classes. They feel that a shop course is a very important one, inasmuch as it acquaints boys with machine shop work, prepares them for jobs in the future, and helps them to better understand the people who work with machines.

PARTY TO BE GIVEN

The Jr. Red Cross Council will enjoy giving a St. Patrick's Day Party for the people at the Old Folks Home on Saturday, March 14. An afternoon of entertainment and refreshments is planned. The entertainers include Jean Heaffner, Tom McNulty, Don Pearson, Dave Beiser, Ed Thompson, Joan and Gwen Garwood, Bill Waechter, Larry Rex, Janice Henson, and Jim Dincolo. Mr. Seeley is assisting the council by having his art classes make the favors.

Music Students to Participate in Festival; Guest Conductors to Direct Evening Concerts

Next week the students in instrumental music in the school city of South Bend will participate in the annual Music Festival. The purpose of this festival is to give all the students the experience of playing in a concert.

Monday and Tuesday rehearsals will be held for the Tuesday night concert in which the combined elementary strings, junior high bands and high school orchestras will play. The elementary bands, junior high strings, and high school bands will practice Wednesday and Thursday for their concert on Thursday night.

Featured guests conductors on these evenings will be Mr. Gilbert Waller leading the high school orchestra on Tuesday, and Mr. Daniel Martino who will direct the high school bands Thursday. Mr. Waller, from the University of Illinois, is a nationally known authority on string teaching. Mr. Martino is the director of the Marching Hundred at Indiana University. The conductors of the other groups will be various directors from the South Bend school city.

FROSH TO RECEIVE TB SKIN TEST

TB skin tests will be given to the 9B's and 9A's on March 23, 25, and 27. Approximately 335 freshmen, as well as those who have not had a previous skin test, will receive the tests at 1:20 in the cafeteria. Dr. Edson will be in charge, with Mrs. Golletz as an assistant. The Junior TB League representatives from Adams, Mary Agnes Gingrich and Robert Walcott, will assist in administering the tests.

On March 16 the students will receive letters from the TB League. These letters are to be signed by the parents and returned before March 18. All those whose skin tests show a positive reaction will have a second test on April 16.

Basketball Banquet To Be Held March 16

Monday, March 16, is the date that has been set for the thirteenth annual basketball banquet. It will be held at the Zion Evangelical Reformed Church, located at 235 S. St. Peter Street. Toastmaster for the evening will be Bill Etherton from the WHOT Broadcasting Station.

As many parents, friends, and students as possible are encouraged to attend. Reservations, which the $1.50 each, can be made with Mr. Powell today.

DePauw to Sponsor Annual Guidance Clinic

The seventh annual Educational Guidance Clinic, sponsored by DePauw University, will be held on the campus at Greencastle, Indiana, June 9-13.

This clinic is sponsored as a service to graduating high school seniors. It is an "impartial" program and not a recruiting program for students.

Each registrant will receive unbiased counsel in reference to such questions as:

1. What predictions can be made about my probable success in college?
2. Are there any deficiencies, academic or otherwise, that may handicap me?
3. Do I have any special abilities to develop?
4. For what career may I be qualified?
5. What college courses would best prepare me toward that goal?
6. What schools are prepared to train me in these areas?

In addition to helpful guidance along these lines, the student receives the valuable experience of an introduction to college procedures. He learns of dormitory life, college dining halls, and student social life.

Participating students will be housed in the campus dormitories. The fee for the entire clinic service is $25. This covers room, meals, cost of testing, and use of all university facilities. Ten dollars of the fee must accompany the student's application blank; the balance is payable at the registration desk.

Any Adams senior who is planning to enter college and who is interested in this five-day clinic at DePauw University may secure an application blank from Miss Burns.

Hi-Y Sponsors Annual Adams Eve

The Adams Hi-Y is again sponsoring the annual Adams Eve which will be held in the gym on Wednesday evening, March 18. This annual event consists of two basketball games.

The preliminary game, a contest between the Hi-Y Hotshots (seniors) and Hawbo's Hipsters, intramural champs, will begin at 6:15 p. m. The big event of the evening, the game between the Has-beens, members of the team who are graduating and the Will-bes, members of next year's varsity squad will begin at 8:00 p. m. Following this game there will be a dance in the Little Theatre.

James Dincolo will serve as dance chairman; John Pence as ticket chairman. The tickets, admitting you to both games and the dance, may be purchased from any Hi-Y member for 25 cents per person.

STUDENTS ASSIST IN LUNCHROOM

Approximately 600 Adams students eat their noon meal daily in the lunchroom. Two hundred and fifty students eat their lunch during the A lunch period; a Foods II class, a math class, and a study hall, during the B lunch period; and the remainder of the students, during the C lunch period.

Students assisting in the lunchroom are: Bill Waechter, John Waechter, Bruce Ball, Tom Sears, Ronnie McGregor, Jerry Hackett, Jackie Hackett, Janice Oakes, Evelyn Fuller, Sharon Coe, Sue Stevens, Louie Finch, and Bill Clark.

New assistants to the previously announced staff of cooks are: Mrs. Virgil Lolmaugh, Mrs. Lora Krieg, and Mrs. Harold Davis.

Adams to Participate In Red Cross Exhibit

John Adams is participating in the Junior Red Cross International Art exchange program between our country and foreign lands. The art works of Junior Red Cross members, of this and foreign countries from the first grade through high school will be displayed in the art room and the library on March 16 and 17. This is an exhibit which is traveling throughout the world.

OPERATION CAFETERIA

Since February 16 at 11:35, the zero hour when the John Adams High School lunchroom began serving its first meals, four weeks have gone by. From our observation posts, located in the south corridor, we have been in an excellent position to witness the activities in and near the lunchroom. Wishing to share our findings with the rest who have not had our opportunities, we have written this editorial.

The atmosphere in the lunchroom and the behavior of the students have been excellent. They have been willing and courteous in asking the faculty to join their lines. They have been good-natured and cooperative about any adjustments which were necessary because this has been a new experience. With few exceptions, we have found the students using their lunchroom as if they appreciated having a place provided for them in which they might eat together.

The exceptions seem to feel that their own wishes and activities are more important than those of the other students who also are John Adams students. If these exceptions would ask themselves the following questions: How do I look to other students in this new situation? Am I a good sport about finding a place in line? Or do I act as if I felt that my being through the line, ahead of others there before me, was all that mattered? Do I act as if my "crowd" were the only ones waiting to be served and as if we should not be required to follow the regulations set up for the best interests of all those using the lunchroom?

The very few who do not always say "please" and "thank you" would make mealtime more pleasant for themselves and others if they remembered to say those simple words which mean so much and take so little time.

If all students would remember not to run to get in line, to put books in the lunchroom — not in the serving room, to wash their hands before eating, to return for second or extras by entering from the hall again, to wait in the outer vestibules when returning to school, Operation Cafeteria which has begun so well would be even better.

HERCULES (Modern Version)

Once upon a time there lived in Greece a gal by the name of Alcmena. Naturally Alcmena wanted to get married. So she hooked the king of the gods, Jupiter, who was definitely a wheel among the rest of the gods and goddesses who hung out on Mount Olympus. Pretty soon Mr. and Mrs. Jupiter had a son. Now Mrs. Jupiter said she certainly wouldn't name any son of her Joe or Sam or Harry, so she named him Hercules—Herky for short.

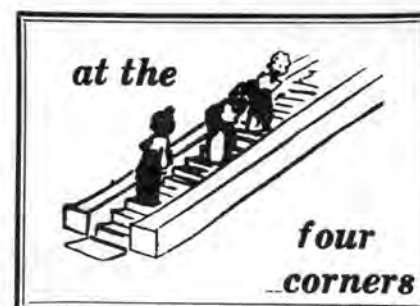

The Jupiter family was very happy. Mr. Jupiter had a good job selling encyclopedias and before long he was able to buy his own ranch house and four-horse chariot. The future looked rosey. Then "Jupiter's other wife," Juno, found out about the other woman in Jupiter's life. She decided to get revenge by killing little Herky. So, disguised as a baby-sitter, she turned loose her two pet snakes. But little Herky strangled them in his little pink paws. (Unbeknown to his parents, Herky had sent away for the Charles Atlas Body Building course, and while he was supposed to be taking his nap every day, he was doing his exercises.)

Not long after this Mr. Jupiter had a business setback and there was no money to buy clothes for little Herky. He felt pretty bad about it until, one day on the way to school, he ran into a lion called the Thespian lion. Since lion skin was definitely the fad that year, he killed the Thespian "critter" and wore the skin for the rest of his life.

Juno was still bent on revenge. One day she disguised herself as a cook in the school lunch room. When Hercules came along she slipped a "micky" in his milk. By the time he got to fifth hour chorus class he was feeling pretty gay. When Linus, the teacher, asked him to sing he flew off the hook and killed the dear old teacher. After that Herky decided he should quit school before he really hurt someone. He married his high school sweetheart, Megara, and they had two sons. But Juno slipped Herky another "micky" and he killed the brats. By this time the Charles Atlas course had really paid off. Herky wasn't old enough for the draft so he decided to go to work. He got a job with King Eureptheus, doing odd bits of heroism. Once in a while he killed a stray monster or a nine-headed snake. Since the king was starting a zoo, Hercules collected unusual animals for him — the Arcadia Stag, the Cretan Bull, Oren of Guyon, and Cerberus, the three-headed dog.

Once in a while Hercules did the shopping for the king's household. On one occasion he was sent to the Hesperides Grocery for some golden apples. On the way home he had to pick up a girdle for the king's daughter, Admeta. The king kept Hercules pretty busy. Just when things were looking up, that nasty Juno sent Hercules out of his mind long enough to kill his buddy, Iphitus. Hercules felt pretty bad, so he changed bosses. This time he went to work for Queen Imphale.

Pretty soon Herky met another babe by the name of Deianira. Now this Deianira was quite a looker. Once when they were crossing a river she made eyes at the boatman. Na-

The chase is on: "Nancy Chizek and Tony Miller."

Questions of the Week: Steve Brannan — Is your southern interest by any chance named Sandy?

Do Judy and Les have cold hands? Carol Gross — Why are you so interested in the goings-on of the debate team?

Could it be that Nikki DeRose is going on a diet to make up for the phone calls of Dave Selby (Culver?)

Busted: Sonja Hoover and Fred LaCrosse (Wabash); Nancy Yoder (Mishawaka) and Bob Root.

Also in the above category are Mary Orzech and Jim Kanouse. It seems Mary is finding consolation in the presence of Dick Wedel.

Worthy of note: Sally Buchanan and Jack Sostack; Betty Hulett and John Heller.

Rumore has it that Sandra Wright and Bill Reinecke are a great couple on the dance floor. Rumor also has it that they are interested in more than the erpsichorean angle of the firendship.

Phyllis Anderson's wild gyrations are not to be misinterpreted. She is making up for a little deficit in gym class.

Will you dig that crazy gym class that the girls have been having? Some of those records are mighty hot.

Make up your mind, Mary Wenger. Is it Tom Jernstrom (Central alum) or Glenn Stumpp (Nappanee)?

The ties are broken: Mardi Kline and Gus Makris (Central.)

New steadies include: Charlie Morse and Diane Halpin.

You've heard the expression, "She's lost her buttons." Jan Miller knows all about it.

A thought worth our while: "The world's smallest package is a person all wrapped up in himself."

They are always saying:
Mr. Goldsberry—Well-11.

Nancy Kenady—Is my hair all right?

Mrs. Carmichael—Get an admit!!

Don Pearson—Yes, sweetheart.

Dick Sessler—What's new with you.

Jean Woolverton—Dig that crazy—

Mr. Krider—Are you loaded?

Marilyn Moran—Have fun!

Tom Stanton—Are they silver with sharp edges?

Larry McMichael—I don't have a report today.

turally Hercules wouldn't stand off this. He whipped out his trusty hatchet and let the boatman have it right in the teeth. Thinking that the boatman's blood was a magic love potion, Deianira dipped Hercules' overcoat in it and made Hercules put on the coat. The coat was cold and slimy, and poor Herky caught pneumonia and died.

The moral of the story is this: If you want to fight a neighboring monster, send now for the Charles Atlas Body Building course.

Lynn: "She's nicer than nice."

Her mother: "But, you've talked on the phone for two hours already."

The faculty: "Wish there were more like her."

NANCY SMUTZ

The girls: "Such a girlie."

Dave: "Watch it, here comes my woman."

Miss Valenti: "Does your father really think I look like fourteen?"

Her parents: "She's so sweet—when she's asleep."

CAROLEE SMITH

The boys: "Hey, that's good stuff."

Her mother: "You can't go out another time until you do your home work."

Her father: "What happened to your ear?"

The girls: "We don't know, but Carolee will tell you."

TOM McHENRY

The boys: "What'ta cat."

His sister: "I promise I won't tell anything I saw last night."

Miss Law: "But Tom, I just can't understand where you were sixth hour yesterday."

FADS AND FASHIONS FOR FEMMES

Walking down the halls of our grand old school one sees the latest fads, including those cute tournament signs hung on the walls. The first thing that caught my eye one fine morning as I walked into school was the latest thing, high sox. Right away I tugged at my low ones, attempting to achieve the same effect. It was of no avail, because mine would not stay up. After hours of hunting, I found two rubber bands, and my task was accomplished. For some reason the circulation in my legs was stopped below the bands and my feet were red and puffed. I didn't mind, for I was in style.

I then took a look at my shoes. Oh, why couldn't I have "booties." Mom can't understand that I'd be saving money if she would by them. I wouldn't need snow boots. Of course I would sit in wet shoes all day and the result may be "a death of a cold." But what's a few doctor bills?

We girls love to wear boy's cashmere sweaters, but for some reason all the boys shy away from lending theirs. Boys just can't understand that we're not asking them to buy us one — just to give us their new ones.

Is Spring here? That's a silly question. Just take a look outside and you will see it's either sleeting, snowing, or raining. Perfect spring weather. We girls disagree with the weather man and we are already wearing flowers.

We have also invented a new way to wear sweaters; at least, we like to think it was our idea. We wear two instead of one. One slip-on plus an open cardigan except at the bottom (worn in vest-like fashion). It's really a "Cool" idea, but someone's been turning the heat up lately. Maybe the engineers are trying to keep the new addition warm.

There is always the problem of mothers. They can't see why we go through so much pain and effort to keep up with the latest fads. The next time your mom says anything, suggest that she recall all the trouble she went through to look as she did in the gay "20's."

—Sue Armstrong.

MY WORLD

Where am I from?
Where will I go?
What am I?
I do not know.

But, Uranus, I hear its plea
I know that it beckons to me.

Why am I now
An earthbound soul?
The answer to this
I do not know.

But earthbound I shall not be
Uranus beckons to me.

Beautiful
I shall be
Then, Uranus,
I'll return to thee.

The Week's Eagle

Karol Hudson, who has blue eyes and blonde hair, was born on August 2, 1935. She is a member of the Drama Club board, treasurer of the Glee Club, and secretary of the senior class and Student Council. Karol plans to attend Indiana University this fall, and hopes to work with children after her graduation. She is undecided as to whether she will teach or manage a nursery.

Karol's pet peeve is people who are prejudiced, and she likes those who are sincere. She is definitely a music-lover, and enjoys listening to the work of Stan Kenton, Four Freshmen, Ralph Flanagan, and Joni James. Although she didn't say anything about it, Karol also likes to listen to basketball games, especially those of the sectional tourney. Her food favorites include white meat of chicken and milk. Karol likes to see a fellow in navy trousers, with a white shirt under a light blue sweater.

If one subject were added to the program at Adams what would you like it to be?

Mary Franklin — "Swimming."

Barbara Fine — "Oh golly, I don't know."

Jim Kemble — "Class in Social Graces."

Mary Wenger — "Class in how to get along with people."

Sharon Rickert — "This requires deep thought."

Tom McNulty — "Slobovia."

Larry Rex — "German."

June Bartels — "Um, um, let me see — swimming."

The Adams Eagles have ended their third season under Coach Warren Seaborg and their second best season in history. Their 14-7 record is slightly better percentage-wise than last year's 15-8 mark, which was the previous second best. Adams best season was the 1943-44 season when the Eagles won 17 and lost only 7.

During the past season the Eagles played two regional winners, Central and Gary Lew Wallace. Central tipped Adams 57-52, while the Eagles were victorious over their Gary foe 58-39.

Other Eagle victims were: Washington-Clay 58-39 and 71-41, East Chicago Washington 51-49, Goshen 77-48, Mishawaka 59-54 and 78-59, Indianapolis Howe 54-42, Warsaw 79-72, Riley 57-50, Washington 51-44, Auburn 71-65, Indianapolis Broad Ripple 62-56, and Fort Wayne North Side 68-57.

In addition to Central, Adams lost to the following teams: Culver 64-62, Michigan City 59-57, LaPorte 77-75, East Chicago Roosevelt 67-63, Elkhart 72-58, and Washington 53-52 in the Sectional.

Adams reached its peak in its game with Riley as they stunned the Wildcats 57-50 in a conference clash. The Wildcats were riding high on the strength of an impressive win over Central. Coach Seaborg used only five players in the victory; Joe Kreitzman, Jerry Thompson, Rocky Ferraro, Larry Kedzie, and Larry Van Dusen. With Thompson and Kreitzman hitting for 17 points apiece the Eagles came back strong in the second half to win going away.

The Eagles averaged 62.5 points a game to their opponents 55.5, a 7-point bulge. In the games Adams won they had a winning average of 12.6 points a game, while they lost by an average of 4.3 points a game. The Eagles dropped three decisions by two points and one by only one point. Adams dropped another by four points and one by five in addition to a 14 point loss.

Coach Seaborg has 31 boys out for spring practice including two Seniors, eleven Juniors, twelve Sophomores, and six Freshmen. That is the grade they will be in next year. The players are: Seniors, Thompson, and Rice; Juniors, Troeger, Green, Van Dusen, Klowner, Poehlman, Rogers, DeLong, Waechter, Fennimore, LaPierre; Sophomores, Timothy, Robbins, Personette, Angus, Severeid, Edgerton, Harris, Hurd, Leighty, Eichorst, Moffett, Wickizer, Salkell; Freshmen, Caron, Dwyer, Smith, Freshley, Parker.

SWIMMERS CONCLUDE SECOND SEASON

The Adams swimming team wrapped up their second season with a two won and four lost record. This bettered last year's mark of one win and two losses.

Though this is only the Eagles second year in swimming competition, they placed second in the city by beating both Washington and Riley and losing only to Central. In out-of-the-city competition the Eagles did not fair so well; they lost to Muncie Burris, Culver, and Gary Lew Wallace.

The team had six lettermen for the year: Wiseman, Heiland, Jennings, Jurgovan, Johnson and Grimshaw. Of the six only Jurgovan and Jennings are seniors.

High-point man for the team was Grimshaw; Wiseman, Jurgovan, and Heiland tied for second. The team placed seventh in the conference meet; Heiland was the only tanker from Adams qualifying for the state meet at the conference meet.

Although the team had only six meets scheduled this year, Coach Laiber hopes to have a full 14-meet schedule for next year.

POWELL TO HEAD MEET

Adams athletic director, Ralph Powell, has been named to head the eastern division NIHS indoor track and field meet. The meet will be held in the Notre Dame field house on March 25, 1953, starting at 4:30 p. m. Adams is the host school in the meet this year.

Ribbons will be awarded to all place winners and a trophy will be given to the winning team.

There will be trials, semi-finals, and finals in the dashes and hurdles. First place in each of the trials plus the three fastest second places will qualify for the semi-finals. First and second in each of the semi-finals qualify for the finals.

Order of Events

60-yard high hurdles—trials and semi-finals—all field events
Mile run (two races)
60-yard dash—trials and semi-finals
