'Eagle Ethics' Presented to Adams

Are these yours?

AMBITION—Make your mark, but mind what your mark is.

COURAGE—In a place where there are no men, strive thou to be a man.

FAITH—Believe in your creed, but believe.

HONESTY—Truth is the highest thing that man may keep.

INDUSTRY—Shun idleness — a rust that attaches itself to the most brilliant metals.

MODESTY—When "a little man" discharges an obligation, the report can be heard for miles around.

PATIENCE—When you do not know what to do, wait.

PERSEVERANCE—In order to see the rainbow, one must weather the storm.

RESPECT—Give to every other human being every right and dignity that you claim for yourself.

SELF CONTROL—Greater is he who conquers himself than he who conquers a thousand.

SINCERITY—BE, rather than seem to be.

'Look At America' Theme for NCCJ Institute

"Take off those rose-colored glasses and get a good look at America," is the advice of the Junior Roundtable of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. "Look at America" is the theme chosen for the Roundtable's sixth annual institute to be held Friday, October 25, at St. Joseph High School from 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

The institute will bring out problems in America concerning the people, democracy, communication, and prejudices. Four dramatic presentations will illustrate these problems, and each situation will be discussed in buzz sessions that will follow lunch.

Dr. William E. Vickery, a member of the NCCJ staff, will conduct a question-and-answer discussion with the aid of Mr. Pat Fitzgerald, of WNDU-TV. Miss Shirley Friend, nationally known artist, will be a featured part of the program.

Tickets, priced at $1, can be bought from Andrea Dean, Sue Welber, Wilma Stuart, and Mrs. Elizabeth Schmidt, in room 201.

Science Library Comes to Adams

The Traveling High School Science Library has arrived at Adams. This Traveling Library of 200 books is divided into eight units of twenty-five books. Each unit is placed in a small traveling case that can also be used for displaying the books in the school library. The 216 program schools will receive 50 books at a time which may be used for a period of two months. At the end of the school year, all schools will have received and used all 200 books.

The Traveling Library contains a variety of books on the subjects of science and mathematics. The types of books include biographies, autobiographies, histories of science and mathematics, and applied science. Most of the books were chosen because of their potential appeal to the general reader who has little or no background in science and whose

The National Honor Society has announced the following twelve Adams seniors as candidates for membership:

Susan Bowman, Virginia Davis, Dave Hartenbower, Brian Hedman, Larry A. Miller, Shirley Otolski, Phyllis Plotkin, Paul Shore, Pat Soellinger, Fred Stave, Elinor Svendsen, and Trully Thompson.

Students are chosen for National Honor Society on the basis of certain qualifications. They must be in the upper third of their class and excel in leadership ability. Outstanding character and the contribution of the individual to the school through service are also deciding factors in the choice of members.

In the spring, a list of all students in the upper third of the junior class and those in the senior class that are not already in National Honor Society is given to each teacher. He rates the individual on the remaining three qualifications — leadership, service, and character. If a teacher does not know a student, he does not vote. The highest five per cent of each class is then initiated into the society. For the juniors, this same process is repeated two times in their senior year.

By the time a student is a senior, he will have seen eight inductions. In order to eliminate this, the school decided to have an induction only once a year in the spring. The same number of pupils will become members, but they will all be inducted at the same time. The twelve fall inductees will be active members, but the formal initiation will occur only once.

Student Council Has Varied Program

This is the first in a series of articles featuring the various clubs at Adams.
—Ed.

"To create a more democratic form of school government, to develop co-operation among pupils and teachers, to develop leaders in society, to encourage proper social relations within the school and to develop a proper attitude toward other schools, to encourage respect for group-made regulations, and to cooperate with other school organizations" is the purpose of the John Adams Student Council. For many years this organization has been co-ordinating school activities by informing the student body of school projects and receiving their suggestions through the 78 homeroom representatives, officers, and board members.

Freshmen became acquainted with the Student Council upon arriving at Adams as the "Sho-Ya-Roun" program and orientation sessions informed them about their new domain for the next four years.

Council Sponsors Drives

On the calendar for October 30 is the annual "Share Their Fare" drive, which raises money enabling students such as Rona Belek to live in America for a year. The Korean Orphan drive, or a similar project, will also be continued as a major part of the Council program.

The project of the annual Leadership Clinic, held October 9, is one of several ideas that has been adopted by other schools. The Student Council also sponsors the selection of the queen and court for the basketball season, the Back-to-School assembly, the compilation and production of the informative John Adams Handbook, and is represented on the Indecent Literature Committee, this year by Janace Conrey.

The Little 500 bicycle race, begun by the 1957 Council, will long be remembered as a time of thrills, excitement and keen competition. The money raised by last year's race will be presented in the form of a scholarship to a graduating senior.

project, a city-wide student exchange, is being planned for late November by the All-City Council, of which Adams is a member. This program calls for representatives from the South Bend schools to spend one day in another local high school observing classes and school activities. The sponsoring body of the project, the All-City Council, is made up of Student Council representatives from Adams, Central, Mishawaka, Riley, St. Joe, Washington, and Washington-Clay.

Jim Daniel heads the Adams council, and is assisted by Dave Brownell, vice president, Sandy Weldy, secretary, Bev Twigg, treasurer, and Mr. John Schutz, faculty advisor. Board members include Brian Hedman, Jerry Rose, Shirley Otolski, Judy Jacobson, Patrick Soellinger, Brenda Barritt, Jim Wiseman, and Rosie Griffith.

National Honor Society

Have you seen fourteen students wearing little gold pins with a torch on them lately? Don't panic, people. They don't belong to an underground jacket club; they're not all members of the Pinky Lee Fan Club. These select few are N. H. S.'ers.

N. H. S.? What's that? Well, to the uninformed and the special group called freshmen — here goes.

The NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY is a group of students who are outstanding scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Each spring five per cent of the senior and junior classes is inducted as well as five per cent of seniors in the fall. Therefore, the top fifteen per cent of each senior class is inducted by the time Commencement arrives, everyone in the top third having three chances to get in.

Make no mistake about it. These students are not just any old teen-ager who can get "in" with a teacher. They are something special, the "cream of the crop" and, as adults like to say, the "leaders of the future."

They all have a brain — who doesn't? But the quality which distinguishes these people, that makes them be put aside as examples to the rest of the world is this: they make good use of their brains and abilities.

The honor of being asked to become a member of this organization is among the highest that can be awarded to a John Adams student. Therefore, the time to begin working to develop leadership, and character is NOW!! Don't wait until next spring when it will be too late, start now.

How to attain and develop these attributes? You can start by spending even more time on homework. No matter how much character one may possess, a perfect record of "C's" and below will not help. Give service by joining clubs and becoming active in them. Don't spread yourself too thin by joining too many clubs. Be active in those which most interest you. Do your work with this goal in mind and do your work well.

A LETTER FROM EDGEIR BENUM

LAST YEAR'S EXCHANGE STUDENT

Dear Faculty—Members and Students:

Now another school year has started on both sides of our little "pond." I imagine that many new freshmen have come to Adams, and maybe many of them feel as lost there as I did the first few days. But I hope that by the end of their four years there they will feel as much at home as I did at the end of one year. If that is the case, the memory of their years at Adams will be very pleasant.

Here school started more than three weeks ago. The English lessons are quite easy for me now. We already wrote an English composition this semester.

It looks as if I am going to get the job as President of our Student Association this year. In that case some of the things I saw done in the clubs at Adams will be tried out here, too.

Of course, I will have to give some speeches about America and my stay there. Now I feel rather powerful because the reputation of the U. S. in this region to a great extent will depend on my words. The reputation of the U. S. will be very good.

This winter I will also do some work for the American Field Service. I will also have an American student in my home.

Tonight I am going to go to a political meeting. On the 7th of October we will have national elections in Norway. As I am a rather eager supporter of the radicals, this is a busy time.

You will hear more from me when everything has settled down. Please give my greetings to all your students.

Sincerely yours,
EDGEIR BENUM.

Shellie Feferman: I lost 14 pounds last week following the TOWER'S diet of raw eggs and beet juice.

Dave Hoyt: Happy Birthday, Alfred E. Neuman.

The Wanderer Returns

Since school has begun, all Adams senior girls have noticed the change that the European visit has wrought in the beloved "John Adams Romeo." We are fortunate to have him with us again, still innocent, and unharmed.

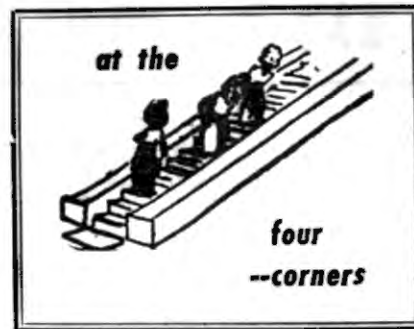

On a crisp, cold morning last February, Mr. Robert A. Seeley left South Bend in his black Buick convertible bound for the warm Southland where the gulf breezes blow. He arrived in New Orleans, Louisiana, in time for the Mardi Gras which was the highlight of his vacation. From New Orleans it was on to Mexico where he enjoyed himself immensely. Coming home from Mexico he came through California and the other Western states.

After being home for a week, he went to Miami, Florida to enjoy the balmy weather. From Miami, he went to Nassau, the Bahamas, Jamaica, Venezuela, and Colombia. The Revolution was to be held on Friday but Mr. Seeley had to leave Monday, not seeing the Revolution. He wanted to go to Havana, but couldn't because the bus company lost his baggage.

On June 25, Mr. Seeley flew to New York, where he left for Ireland. After a visit with the Irish, he visited the English, Dutch, and Belgians. Completing a visit in Belgium, it was on to Germany, Luxembourg, Switzerland, Austria, Italy, and France.

He arrived for school one day late due to the fact that the boat company lost his luggage.

Attention all you Eagles — there are only four more football games. Get out and cheer our team on to four victories. Don't forget the Elkhart game tonight. By the way, with Brother Flu-bug making the rounds, don't take any chances. Bundle up and keep warm!!

Wouldn't it be funny if Don Priebe would be campused, Becki Wetter?

There seems to be quite a romance brewing right under Mr. Crowe's nose in study hall. Right D. J. West?

Fifth hour Latin III class has been plagued by a time bomb lately. The ticking seems to be driving everyone nuts.

Is it safe now? We're speaking of the drivers training students! Let's hope that by now the kids are able to handle the car more easily.

Say, is it true that Mr. Laurita hasn't been as comfortable in home room since the couch has been removed from the library?

Do you need any ironing done? Just contact Tom Kaiser any time at all.

Much luck to the senior class officers: Jerry Rose, Jim Messick, Marilyn Rainier, and Bob Fischer. We're sure you'll do a splendid job.

Sue Lawrence, you had better stay out of the Varsity dressing room. We all know you like to write on the black board, but. . .

Lin Hammes and Judy Eich, do you know two girls who can eat a large pizza and then go to a drive-in for an extra special double dip ice cream cone, and still be hungry.

Gail Levy had one fine cast party Saturday night. The food was fine and so was the music.

Congratulations to the cast and Mr. Brady for a fine job on "You Can't Take it with You."

The whole school wishes a speedy recovery to Mr. Rothermel. Central and Adams couldn't get together in football; but our principals are in the same hospital in the same room, both recovering from emergency appendectomies.

Our Exchange Student From Turkey Tells of Her Experience

I live in Istanbul, which is one of the most important cities in Turkey. It is a very large port with a population of 1½ millions. The community that I live in is Bakirkoy, which is a suburb of Istanbul.

Last year in January the American Field Service asked our school for students who wanted to go abroad. There were about 45 candidates, and I was one of them. We had a test in English and another about Turkish knowledge. The faculty chose nine students and sent the application papers to New York. In May, I received a letter from the AFS telling me that I had won a scholarship. It also told me who my American parents would be and that I would go to John Adams. When I received this letter, I was very happy and began preparations to come to the United States.

Off to America!

On July 31, 44 students from Turkey took the train, and after five days and nights reached Rotterdam, Holland. We were supposed to make the trip on the Arosa Sky, but we couldn't because we had the Asian flu. On the 28th of August, I arrived in South Bend. I imagined South Bend to be like New York with high buildings and subways. I found it very much different. I like it better because the trees, yards, and modern homes are very pretty.

When school began, it was nice to meet friendly boys and girls and teachers. In America the school system is quite different than in Turkey. There, when we are seven years old, we begin to go to primary school which takes five years. Next we go to a three-year grammar school. I graduated after three years of high school. In high school I took literature, composition, English, Turkish, history, chemistry, math, philosophy, psychology, astronomy, physics, gym, military, and art.

A Welcome Addition to Adams

In Adams I am a senior taking English, U. S. history, art, and typing. I am a member of some clubs. It is nice to have such clubs and activities. In Turkey there were some clubs like drama club, glee club, and literary club, we had only these three because we had many lessons to study.

In Turkey the native language is Turkish and the religion is Mohammedan. Turkish is different language from other languages. It is not easy for a strange person to learn it because there are some special letters. Generally a Turkish child can learn writing and reading Turkish after five months of school.

I think I am a very lucky girl to meet you and to come to Adams, which is a wonderful school with lots of school spirit. In Turkey I don't have any brothers or sisters so it is nice to have a sister here like Sue Maurer.

This year will be a great experience for me, for I shall be able to know American social life and the habits of your people. It will give me a great deal of pleasure to answer any question that you might have to ask about Turkey.

Are You Neurotic?

The following are penetrating questions devised by psychological experts. Answer them to the best of your ability and the results will accurately measure you.

- (1) Who was the boyhood hero of Perry Mason?
(a) Genghis Khan (c) Joe Stalin
(b) Orval Faubus (d) Little Red Riding Hood
- (2) What purpose do school boiler rooms serve?
(a) heating school (c) shuffle board
(b) meeting room parlor
(d) none of these
- (3) How many stories does the First Bank of Rangoon have?
(a) 7 (c) 9
(b) 14 (d) none of these
- (4) Who shot cock robin?
(a) Little John (c) John
(b) Big John (d) Joe Friday
- (5) Hey Joe, you got bubble gum?
(a) yes (c) yes
(b) yes (d) yes

— ANSWERS —

- (1) (e) Perry Mason.
- (2) (d) none of these, teachers go there to meditate in solitude.
- (3) don't shoot till you see the whites of their eyes.
- (4) he was stabbed.
- (5) yes.

To evaluate your answers subtract the number right from those that were correct, add 2, take the cube root, bounce it off the ceiling, shake well, and don't open till Christmas.

Have You Ever Said This?

Have you ever caught yourself saying some of these familiar expressions? Then "hang your head" in shame, and "keep your eyes peeled" for these amusing sayings.

'Eagle Ethics' Result of Two Years' Work

"I expect to pass through this world but once; any good therefore that I can do or any kindness that I can show to any fellow creature, let me do it now, let me not defer or neglect it for I shall not pass this way again."—Stephen Grellet.

This code of ethics, known as "Eagle Ethics," was presented to the student body in a special assembly, October 10, 1957. Mr. A. T. Krider presided at the assembly explaining this product of two years' work.

The Code of Ethics committee was first begun by the Student Council under the sponsorship of Mr. Kermit Thompson. Kent Keller, council president in 1954, got the idea from the magazine, Student Life.

A committee was guided by the student council officers of 1955. Letters were sent to schools throughout the country, asking for samples and information on what they had done in their schools in the same line. With the work of these schools to be used as guides, a committee of twenty-five students began work.

By the fall of 1956, the committee had grown considerably. The group led discussions in the ninth grade civics classes and the tenth grade English classes. From these discussions, the group summarized the things which the students themselves felt needed improving. Seniors helping the 1956 group were Wesley Rachels, Sandy Weldy, Carol Weldy, Carol Hertel, Marilyn Schwanz, Linda Rogers, Pete Sherman, and John Ross.

Work then began on the actual code of ethics or code of behavior. Adams students were inspired to set up principles to serve as standards or a code to guide their fellow students and themselves. The group decided to develop a thought-provoking code rather than a code that would be promissory or commanding.

The students who have worked on this code realize that it may never cause a noticeable change in Adams. But they feel that if the principles in the code help just one student in his life, the hours spent on the code will not have been wasted.

The committee feels deeply honored to have had a part in this step toward improvement and wish to thank Mrs. Elizabeth Schmidt for all of her time and talents she devoted to the Code of Ethics Committee.

Those students working on the committee this year are Shirley Otol-ski, Judy Jacobson, Jo Ann Dobecki, Larry Thompson, Mark Camblin, Mary Reber, Mary Lisk, Dave Brownell, Jim Daniel, Beth Ryon, Judy Hughes, Bob Chreist, and Dave Mickelsen.

SO YOU WANT TO WRITE MOVIES?

This educational piece is for people who want to learn how to write dialogue for movies and television and so forth. Writing dialogue is easy. All you have to do is see three or four pictures to know how most screen plays are made up of the same situations and sentences over and over again. The deduction is elementary. Get a collection of all the sentences they use over and over again . . . put them together different ways and presto, you have a screen play.

Tennis Team Takes Conference Crown

In their final and most important match the Eagle tennis team under Coach Ernie Kaeppler proved themselves to be championship material by defeating the Mishawaka team 4-0. This is the first time the team has won the conference championship and naturally they are excited about the coming game with the Western conference champs. The Western conference has not yet been decided, but it will be either East Chicago Washington or Hammond Clark. The match will be next Wednesday, October 16. This season's record of 8 wins and no losses is the best record ever posted by an Eagle tennis team in the history of the school.

In Tuesday's match Bob Fischer took Goeller of Mishawaka 6-1 and 6-3 for the first win. Then a junior, Burke Jackson, took the second match 6-3 and 6-1. Jim Fischer won the third match 6-2 and 6-1 and Terry Gibson defeated Riggs of Mishawaka 6-3 and 6-0 for the fourth and final win. The final score stood, Adams (conference champs) Eagles 4, Mishawaka Cavemen 0.

In the doubles Fischer and Fischer defeated Goeller and Curtis of Mishawaka 6-3 and 6-3 and the only defeat of the match for Adams was the Wallman-Jackson defeat by Kramerer and Whitfield, 6-4 and 6-3.

proficiency in mathematics does not go beyond elementary algebra and plane geometry. A few books are somewhat more advanced and will provide an incentive to the exceptional senior high school student.

The purpose of the Traveling Library is to stimulate an interest in reading science and mathematics books, to broaden the science background of high school students, and to assist students who have interests in science and mathematics in choosing professional careers in the sciences.

Adams is one of 216 program schools privileged to participate in this program. The schools represent all the 48 states and the Territory of Hawaii.

HI, SPORT FANS!

I hear that although the schools didn't get to play the football game last Saturday night the principals played the game of appendicitis in the same hospital room. Let's hope the next time a game is scheduled the teams and the principals are able to attend.

Tonight the gridders travel to our neighboring city of Elkhart to meet the Blue Blazers on their own Rice Field. The Eagles have been victorious in the past and it is the hopes of all here at Adams that we make this another conference victory.

As the varsity football game was cancelled so were the "B" and freshmen games. This makes a total of three games in one week all with the same school that were cancelled. On the agenda for the coming week in reserve football are a "B" game on Monday with Washington and a freshmen game on Thursday with Mishawaka.

The cross country team will participate in the South Bend City Meet Tuesday, October 15. This will be held at Erskine course and all city teams will participate.
