Teens Urged to Prevent Polio with Vaccine

"Now is the time to get your polio vaccination!" was the advice of Dr. F. R. Nicholas Carter, secretary of the South Bend Department of Public Health. Reporters representing St. Joseph County high schools fired questions at Dr. Carter and Mrs. Loretta Franz, representing the St. Joseph County Health Office, at a special press conference held at City Hall on January 23, 1958.

Get Polio Shots Now!

Dr. Carter said that those who are vaccinated now will have the greatest immunity during the summer months when polio strikes the hardest. The present supply of Salk vaccine must be used up by late February, which is the time of expiration. Although still completely effective, each batch of vaccine is only used for six months in accordance with Federal laws. Everyone, regardless of age, is urged to get his three polio shots immediately. It has recently been announced that a fourth shot, to be administered one year following the third, is advocated for greater immunity.

Polio can strike anyone at any age. Although ¾ of the polio victims are those in the 0-20 age group, those from 20-40 are stricken much more severely, and the paralytic effects can be infinitely more serious.

Vaccine Gives Great Immunity

Statistics provide ample proof of the vaccine's effectiveness. In 1952 polio cases numbered 120, five of which proved fatal. In 1956 when the vaccine was introduced, 18 were reported. 1957 saw only five cases, of which only one was paralytic. Generally, figures show that the Salk vaccine is effective in 85% of the cases.

Thus actual statistics prove that polio can be prevented! The vaccine may be obtained from your family doctor.

All of you can help those for whom the vaccine came too late by contributing to the March of Dimes. There are many polio patients who still need a great deal of care and rehabilitation. They are depending on YOU.

Dept. of Fire Marshal Indiana State Office Bldg.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 3 — State Fire Marshal Jay L. Foster has reiterated an earlier warning to the effect that any unauthorized attempt to fire the rocket type missile within the boundaries of Indiana is strictly banned, if a propellant charge of a combustible or explosive material is used.

The statewide edict prohibits the use of commercially prepared explosives or inflammable liquids as well as any home-made concoctions of like properties. Foster said his office had received reports of unauthorized experiments utilizing propellants ranging from gasoline to black powder. One group reportedly attempted to send up a "sputnik" with a propellant combination of potassium nitrate and magnesium.

Foster cited the State Fireworks Code as the authority for arrest with a penalty of $100 fine or ninety days in jail or both, and stated that no permit of any kind would be issued by the Fire Marshal Department. He also stated the law will be strictly enforced. He urged parents to quickly put a stop to any youthful ventures in launching satellites.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC ADDED BY ADAMS

The Adams orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Ronald Walton, will play an essential role in the production of "Good News." Some orchestra members will be a part of the special all-city orchestra that will provide music for the production. The Long Journey

We, as teenagers, experience moods which are as unpredictable as the weather. Our moods may be sunny, windy, stormy, or calm, but each mood plays an important part in our development from adolescence to maturity.

At times we are happy. We know the joy of waking late on a Saturday morning and seeing the sun streaming into a golden pool on the floor. We know the feeling of proudness as we win a contest or make a good grade on a test. At these times we are happy.

Sometimes we are lonely. We know the sad song of a sparrow on a dreary winter afternoon and the low mournful sound of the train moaning in the night. We know the loneliness that comes from being unwanted, unaccepted by our friends. We are often lonely.

We also love. We love summer nights full of heavy peace and chirping crickets and the heat that forms a halo around the moon. We love music that echoes over the earth surrounding the red and blue stars that spangle the night. We love the white wonderland of snow as we gaze out of the window on a winter morning. We love life.

We often forget. We forget that men were created to be the same, but sometimes we forget this and join others in pointing our fingers in ridicule. We snub others in indifference, we exclude others from our circle of friends. We forget to forgive others for the shortcomings we ourselves possess.

We are afraid of ourselves. We are afraid when we think some strange and new thought; when we hear our conscience but pay no heed to it; when we think of the future — college, marriage, a job. We fear the unknown.

We realize we have a long journey ahead. When we are happy or lonely, in love or forgetful, we realize that all is not now in the present, that there is much to come. We have been told to live a good life; that justice, honesty, and righteousness must guide us. But these glittering generalities don't mean very much. Our problems are specific, and we need answers that are specific. We realize that these problems can only be answered by time.

GET YOURS NOW!

"Roll up your sleeve, Steve."

"Don't balk at Salk."

These are two slogans which we've been hearing in the news for a couple of years now. Everyone knows that they mean, in more formal English, "Make Sure You Get Your Three Salk Shots."

But the problem seems to be that while all teens understand these slogans, not enough are springing to action. Statistics from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis show that at the end of the last school year, fewer than 20 per cent of teens from 15 through 19 had received the three Salk shots that are necessary for maximum protection from paralytic polio.

Now here is another set of figures: In recent years, one-third of all paralytic polio cases have occurred in persons 15 years of age or over.

These two paragraphs seem to show conclusively that teens, one of the most polio-susceptible age groups, are taking needless, serious risks with their health by not availing themselves of the Salk vaccine. It doesn't make sense.

There is no excuse for any student of our high school taking chances on getting polio.

Any Problems, Girls?

For you girls who are confused, bewildered, and generally in a tizzy over your problems, we have dug into our question box for some typical questions. We have tried to answer the following as best we can.

HOW OLD SHOULD A GIRL BE BEFORE SHE DATES?

Before she dates what? Let's say men. Well, we feel that she should at least be in the fifth grade. By the fifth grade you've got something to talk about. You've had English, geography, and math. After all, you can't talk spelling, can you?

DO BOYS LIKE GIRLS TO WEAR MAKE-UP?

Only if she has an ugly face.

WHAT DO I DO WHEN MY DATE PICKS ME UP?

Boys are as shy as girls, especially when they've got to meet your parents. He'll appreciate your show of confidence when you calmly introduce him to the door and slam your parents. Here's an easy rule to remember on those introductions: the man is presented to the woman unless the woman happens to be your date, in which case he should be a man and that would mean that you'd have to decide whether you should introduce your mother or your father first. Say, "Mother, I'd like you to meet Dad." When you get around to introducing him to your sister say, "Nancy, this is George. Yes, that's much better, except that this happens to be Elmer. Oh, well, just give up and drag your date to the door and explain later.

WHAT CAN A GIRL DO IF SHE IS TALLER THAN HER DATE?

You may be a bit taller than your date because you are wearing high heels. If you continue to wear high heels your date will develop what is known in the trade as a "Shortie Complex." Girls who are dating short boys definitely should not wear high heels.

Of course if you, without shoes, are still taller than your date, then there is a more ticklish problem. You can send your date home and wait until he grows a little taller. In the intervening years you can develop your mind. And there is nothing a boy likes better than a cultured girl. No siree.

If you are impatient, you can slice off the lower part of your feet, but this, we warn you, is messy. And, anyway, you'll look pretty bad in a bathing suit.

For the present concentrate on your posture. If you walk around all slouched over with your hands trailing on the ground, this will only accentuate your height. After all, you can't help it if you are a great big slob of a girl. Stand erect. Be proud you're eight feet tall.

I never kiss
I never neck
I never say —
I never say heck
I'm always good
I'm always nice
I never play poker
I shake no dice
I never drink
I never flirt
I never gossip
Or spread the dirt
I have no line
Of funny tricks
But after all,
I'm only six.

Just think, there are only 58 more days left until Spring Vacation!!!!!!

MATMEN BEAT RILEY

The wrestling team has been doing very well in the past weeks. In the tourney over the holidays they placed third out of four.

The matmen beat Crown Point, hitherto unbeaten this season, 23-18. Then they trounced Howe M. A. 47-3. The meet with Niles ended in disaster for the Eagles with the score 31-19. Bishop Noll fell before the claws of the Adams Eagles 42-3 in the next meet however. Then Hammond Tech beat the wrestlers 23-17. E. C. Washington also beat the matmen 25-17.

Riley Cats Clawed

On Tuesday night the matmen walked, or maybe we should say crawled and clawed, over Riley to win 34-14.

Joosens won his match by a pin for five points as did Howerton, Karczewski, and Murphy. Barton won his match on a forfeit so he too netted five points. Minkow, Cogdell, Hill, won their matches on decisions, netting nine points. That accounts for our 34 points.

Maggert, Stahly, and Hall lost on decisions and Swartz lost on a pin to total the 14 points for Riley.

The LaPorte Slicers won their third game of the season by defeating the John Adams Eagles 57-47 last Friday. This was a conference loss for the Eagles.

LaPorte jumped off to a 6-0 lead and the Eagles were never able to overcome the deficit. The Adams team didn't score their first field goal until only 1:35 remained in the first quarter. The Adams Eagles pulled to within three points at 48-45 with four minutes left in the game, but could not close the gap.

The scoring leaders for Adams were Roland Davis with 16 and Lee McKnight with 15. The other scoring totals for Adams ran as follows: Gene Phillips had four, Jim Rea two, Gary Williams six and Dennis Hogan and Dennis Bradley two each.

Blockburn and Ott scored 15 and 14 respectively for LaPorte to lead their team.

This brought the season record of the Eagles to six wins and six losses. The "Beagles" won their game, 44-33.

Lose to Indians

The seasaw game between the Eagles of Adams and the Indians from St. Joe ended in defeat for the Eagles, 63-57.

The first quarter ended 13-13 and the first half 34-32 for Adams. Throughout the game the Eagles controlled the defensive boards gaining most of the rebounds from the St. Joe attempts, but the offensive rebounds were usually lost to "Sticks" Wroblewski, the 6'8" forward from St. Joe.

Roland Davis was high for Adams with 23 followed by Phillips with 13. St. Joe won the "B" game, 29-25.

The next game will be against Washington on February 6.

Splashers Down Bears
