World Traveler to Speak at Assembly

For the annual brotherhood assembly to be held Wednesday, February 19, Mr. Arthur Tyler will speak on the subject of "World Tolerance."

Mr. Tyler is a retired South Bend businessman, having been the head of the Tyler Tire and Service Station for many years. He is a trustee of The First Methodist Church, a member of The Salvation Army board, a 33rd degree Mason, and a member of Rotary Club.

He became a firm supporter of brotherhood while making a 35,000 mile trip during which he became acquainted with the peoples of forty-five foreign countries. It is from his experiences on this trip that Mr. Tyler will speak to the student body.

Andrea Dean is serving as student chairman for the assembly.

Nat'l Merit Offers Special Award

Gail Levy, Brent Coy, and Carol Hegg have earned the title of "Commended Scholar" as a result of their scores on the National Merit Scholarship Test. Although the three Adams seniors were not semi-finalists in Merit competition, they did exceptionally well on the test.

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation sent each of them a letter concerning the award which they may use when applying for college scholarships. They will be awarded certificates at the graduation ceremony.

Gail's college choice is Bryn Mawr, while Brent and Carol have decided on Purdue University.

The National Merit Scholarship Test will be given to Adams juniors in April, 1959.

Future Teachers Fete Adams Faculty

Jo Dobecki, the club president, made arrangements for the affair, and she was assisted by Deanna Opperman, Carolyn Winslow, Sandy Sexton, and Jan VanFaasen.

Home economics classes under the supervision of Miss Margaret Swank made refreshments for the tea. Miss Dorothy Wampler is faculty advisor of the club.

The Religion of Mohammed

We often use the phrase "Allah" in a light and joking vein without realizing the seriousness of the phrase as used in other lands.

Islam, or Mohammedanism, is one of the great religions of the Western world, practiced by peoples of many countries. Mohammed began his teachings in Arabia in the 600's. His words spread throughout Europe, Asia, and Africa.

"There is no god but Allah; Mohammed is the messenger of Allah." This is the core of Islam. Mohammed recognized the laws of the Old and New Testaments as the foundation of his teachings and saw in the world religions essential similarities.

Mohammed's teachings were recorded in the Moslem holy book, the Koran, which Moslem children use as a textbook as well as a book of inspiration.

Historically, the Moslem empires have been decisive forces in world events. We may remember only the Crusades and the so-called "holy wars," but this is not the whole picture. Moslems gave to the world algebra, many crafts, and much of early chemistry and medicine. They brought to the Western world paper from China, and knowledge of Plato, Aristotle, and Greek Science. Some scholars believe that they may have inspired the European Renaissance.

Through a study of other religions our understanding of people whom we sometimes consider "strange" and "different" is increased. We see the striking similarities in the underlying messages of religions and feel ourselves a part of the vast brotherhood of man.

Will You Be My . . . Oh Never Mind!

"Sure, I'll be your valentine—if you think you can afford me." "I've climbed the highest mountain, crossed the widest ocean, and I still think you're mediocre!" These and other similar tender sentiments are replacing the familiar "Roses are red, violets, etc." on today's valentines.

These contemporary cards can produce quite a laugh, if we are careful whom we send them to! However funny they may be, these products of our frustrated generation can't completely take the place of lacy hearts and flowers.

The custom of exchanging valentines is thought to have originated in Roman times. February 15 was the date of an old Roman festival when it was the tradition to draw lots to decide which young men and women should be each other's "valentine" for the coming year. The couples would then exchange gifts, and sometimes they even became engaged to be married.

No matter how cynical the greeting cards become, Valentine's Day remains a gay holiday symbolic of love and good will.

"We ought to be valentines . . . but who would have us?"

You're Strictly In Orbit, Man . . .

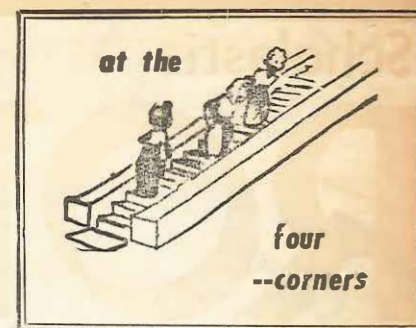

Unfortunately, or perhaps fortunately, all of us are not blessed with the distinction of being labeled as a "beauty queen" or even a "scholar of depth." Many of us lie somewhere between the two, and happily so. And then there are those of us who fall way below the ranks in the "slob" or "clod" category. But ah! fellow slob, let us not despair—the latest authority has come up with a compensation. It is, lo and behold, a CLUB. This club is the extreme of all extremes, and the name adequately typifies its members. They call themselves the OOI's, or the Out-of-Its.

Luckily, though, the qualifications for membership are few. And the only requirements after you become a full-fledged member are that you continue practicing the policies that you did to get in.

For all interested, a list of the qualifications follows:

1. Go to a basketball game and never open your mouth. Just sit there, tell the team what they are doing wrong, and don't forget to keep telling the cheerleaders to "do something." Better yet, don't even bother going to the game.
2. Never yell at pep assemblies. But as soon as possible, try out for cheerleading and go out for basketball. As soon as you get the job, we'll see how good YOU are.
3. Never do your homework at home. Save it for homeroom and then when an assembly is called, see how many you can blame for that zero in English.
4. Join every club in school, and sign up to work on every committee. Then be sure that you don't attend any of the meetings or do any work on the committees. This dreadful offense would result in a dishonorable discharge from the OOI's.
5. Always make a habit of borrowing pencils, pens, paper, and homework from anyone in sight, and be sure that you don't return any of it. One warning, however. If you copy a list of something, mix up the order so the teacher will not suspect. And if you copy a composition of some sort, change the "a's" to "the's" and the "and's" to "but's." In case you are questioned, you can always tell the teacher that it must be a coincidence and then point out the differences.
6. Always eat unusual things like a fried onion sandwich smothered with garlic sauce. Things like this always attract a lot of attention, and if someone give you a Cloret or two, you can be sure that people are noticing you.
7. Forget your glasses and always walk down the hall with a huge sulk on your face. Don't say hello to anyone even if they speak first. This will encourage friendships, and you certainly don't want any of those.

Live strictly by the rules listed above, and your membership in the club is guaranteed. The number of currently active members is limited.

Know what one eye said to the other eye? Just between us, there's something that smells.

One of our illustrious Juniors has come up with the brilliant concept that there is no good or evil in the world. N'est-ce pas, Jerry Hobbs? Think you can prove it?

Say, have you all heard about Moby Dick, the sea sick whale?

Tell us, Betty Walcott, what does B.B.B. stand for?

You want to know what Confucius REALLY said—on my honor: "The men of old, when they wished their virtues to shine throughout the land, first had to govern their states well. To govern their states well, they first had to establish harmony in their families. To establish harmony in their families, they first had to discipline themselves. To discipline themselves, they first had to set their minds in order. To set their minds in order, they first had to make their purpose sincere. To make their purpose sincere, they first had to extend their knowledge to the utmost. Such knowledge is acquired through a careful investigation of things. For with things investigated knowledge becomes complete. With knowledge complete the purpose becomes sincere. With the purpose sincere the mind is set in order. With the mind set in order there is real self discipline. With real self discipline the family achieves harmony. With harmony in the family the state becomes well governed. With the state well governed there is peace throughout the land." That's what Confucius REALLY said.

Did you know that Bill Hammes has been making earrings in an Art class because he doesn't wear cuff links?

Hey, girls, if you want to lose weight easily, just make sure that your afternoon classes are in the north wing of the building. Those vibrations will do wonders for you.

Mickey Mouse, Central Bears?? Down with Lehr!

What are "Hawaii" and "Alaska" doing in sixth hour government class?

Kathy Dunbar, what happened to your petition? It seems to have gotten lost in the shuffle.

Say, as long as you have a minute to spare, why don't you tell me everything you know?

Confucius says two more indispensables: "Man who not pull rip cord on parachute jump to conclusion," and "Man should wash feet in morning, neck at night."

So Jeanne Martin's furry coat absorbs toothpaste, does it?

and they actually want the club to remain rather exclusive. But if you adequately adhere to the qualifications, and have a sincere desire to become a member of the "exclusive" gang, you will undoubtedly be asked to join.

Miss Snowy White Meets the Seven Little Boppers

Well, chilluns, this here is the story of Snowy White. Now Snowy had an absolute drag for a ma-ma-mea, I mean to say that she was the absolute lowest! She had a mirror that used to tell her that she was pretty cool, but one day the mirror made a boo-boo and told this here witchy character that she was completely out of the picture. "Snowy White," the mirror said, "is neatest of all."

Ma-ma-mea got sort of peeved at this, and hired a butcher to take Snowy White out in the woods and make hash out of her. This here butcher-boy didn't care for this plan too terribly much so he just left Snowy White in the woods.

A few tick-tocks later, Snowy White heard what she thought was whistling by Colonel Nickersox and the boys from the Bridge. Instead, though, she saw seven little boppers whistling a Chantilly song. This rather bugged Snowy White and she ran right into their path.

"Man!" said one, "this is the absolute." Snowy White at this time had a little collapsing spell, and that's just what she did — collapsed.

"What'll we do with this chick?" inquired the second little bopper. Then all the boppers began chanting, "If's like we'll take her and go down . . . down . . . down . . . and . . . and . . ."

Well, what do YOU think?

ADAMS SENIORS TURN 'GUINEA PIGS' FOR SCHOOL'S FIRST ECON COURSE

A new course has entered the Adams curriculum this semester—economics, or, as it is called by its students, "econ." There are thirty guinea pigs in this new class, which is taught by Mr. John Schutz, well-known civics and world history teacher at AHS and sponsor of the Student Council.

Economics is a one semester course which may be taken as a substitute for one's credit in sociology. It is being offered because of its importance to the proper education of students in a democracy.

Study Econ Problems

Mr. Schutz hopes that the course will accomplish these objectives: (1) to acquaint the student with certain facts relating to social economic conditions and problems; (2) to help the student discover and understand a number of fundamental economic principles; and (3) to enable the student to acquire skill in the application of these principles to existing economic problems.

The study of economics broadens one's understanding and helps one to be a more effective citizen because it explains the origin of many of the social problems that arise from our efforts to make a living.

Eagles Fall to Panthers, 57-54

The John Adams cage team, not able to put a marker on the scoreboard in the last 3 minutes, fell short as Washington outscored the Eagles in a thriller 57-54 Thursday night, February 5.

The game was close throughout, neither team able to build a commanding lead. Washington built up a 19-14 margin at the first stop, but Adams came back to lead at half 31-29.

Twice during the third period Adams jumped to 6-point leads, but was unable to hold these, as the Panthers trailed by 3 at the end of the third quarter 42-39.

During the fourth period Washington tied the score several times, as the Eagles were unable to hit free throws, missing seven vital shots in the last quarter and half. With 26 seconds remaining Washington went ahead for the first time in the second half at 56-54 on a basket by Harvey.

As the clock then showed 7 seconds remaining, Barnes sank a free throw, cinching the win.

Upon getting the ball out, Adams had time out. A desperation last second tip-in try by Bud McKnight went awry, as the Eagles went down to their fifth loss in 17 games.

Adams actually lost the game at the charity stripe, as they connected on 10 of 21, while Washington dropped in 15 of 23.

The Eagles outscored them from the field 22 to 21. High scorer for Adams was Marvel with 17 followed by McKnight with 16. Zaleski was high in the game for the Panthers with 21 followed by teammate Louis Harvey with 18.

Four Qualify for Regional Wrestling

The John Adams wrestling squad placed third in a field of eleven teams in the sectional wrestling tournament held last Saturday. Four Adams wrestlers earned the opportunity to travel to Lafayette tomorrow for the regional competition.

Central won the tournament with a total of 123 points, Elkhart was second with 77 points and Adams was a very close third with 76 points. Adams wrestlers who placed in the sectional meet are: Marvin Cogdell won the 115-lb. title, Jerry Minkow won the 123-lb. title, Phil Barton won the 148-lb. title, and Tom Stahly finished second in the 157-lb. division.

Adams Bees Upset Penn Varsity, 46-41

The John Adams "B" team showed they were a powerful ball club as they upset the Penn Kingsmen 46-41 in an overtime.

Penn, who had gained prestige by being runner-up in the County Tournament lost some of that fame Friday night, February 6.

The game was nip-and-tuck the whole way with the greatest lead by either team being 5 points.

The county team managed to tie the score 41-41 at the end of regulation time. The Adams Bees scored 5 points without return in the overtime on a basket by Jack Johnson and three clutch free throws by Dick Clemmons.

High scorer for the Eagles was Jack Johnson with 16, followed by Clemmons with 13 and Ed Butler with 8. Adams record is now 16-1 with 3 games remaining in the season.

Seagles Place Third in Meet

The Adams swimmers finished third in the South Bend City Swimming meet last Saturday. Jim Fett was the only winner for the Seagles who accounted for their points in places. Fett won the 40-yd. freestyle, tying the meet record of :19.4 set last year. Central won the meet with Riley finishing second. Results:

400-yd. freestyle: T. Brandley, 6th.
40-yd. freestyle: Fett, 1st; J. Hartke, 4th. Time—:19.4.
100-yd. butterfly: D. Hartke, 5th.
200-yd. freestyle: T. Brandley, 4th; Reynolds, 5th.
100-yd. backstroke: Kowals, 3rd.
100-yd. freestyle: Fett, 2nd; Gerber, 6th.
100-yd. breaststroke: Hammes, 4th.
Diving: Welch, 4th; Phelps, 6th.
120-yd. individual medley: J. Hartke, 2nd; D. Hartke, 6th.
240-yd. medley relay: Adams, 1st (Kowals, Hammes, Harlan, Reynolds).
160-yd. freestyle relay: Adams, 3rd.

Tomorrow at the Natatorium, the Seagles will compete in the conference swim meet and next week the swimmers will travel to LaFayette for the State meet.

Frosh Split

During the week of February 2, the Adams frosh fared one win and one loss. They tripped Goshen in a close struggle 33-31 on February 5. The frosh played the next evening in the preliminary contest at Penn Township. Because of the illness of three starters, our freshmen bowed to Penn 31-30.

Teams Wind Up Season Schedules

The John Adams varsity basketball team travels to Elkhart tonight in the next-to-the last game of the regular season. The Eagles will have a special purpose for winning this contest besides wanting to bring their conference record to 5-3 and their over-all season record to 18-5.

The freshmen wind up their season on the 19th by playing Washington at Washington. The Seagles enter into the conference meet tomorrow and the Adams wrestlers who qualified in the sectional meet will wrestle tomorrow in LaFayette.
