Action Inc. Offers Talks On Financing College Education

Are you considering college next year but don't think you can afford to go?

On Sunday, December 4, at 2 p.m., ACTION, INC., 811 East Jefferson Blvd., will host two lectures for students who want to go to college but have little or no financial resources for continuing education.

Mr. Kurt Hofmann, Admissions Officer at Indiana University Extension, will talk about the educational opportunities available and the correct procedures for making application to colleges and universities.

Brother Robert Sinnave, Financial Aid Officer at the University of Notre Dame, will describe the various sources of money available and outline the procedures for making application for scholarships, loans, student employment and grants-in-aid.

Any student who feels that this program will be of help to him or her is invited to attend.

Student Directory Is On Sale Now

Student directories are on sale this week in the homerooms for twenty-five cents. As always they contain the names, addresses, homerooms, grade, and telephone numbers of all students.

There is a listing of club officers and sponsors in the back.

Paul Goetz is the chairman of this year's directory staff.

Other staff members are: John Held and Rosey Lauck, clubs; Janet Nelson, publicity; Marilyn Miller, sales. Typing was done by Adams Business Club members.

Others helping with the student directory include Mr. Shanley, Mrs. Weir, Mr. Landry, Mrs. Kindt, Mr. Seeley, Mrs. Winkleman, Miss Puterbaugh, Mr. Mutti, and Mrs. Katona.

Christmas Seals Reach Every Student

Every year Christmas seals are sold in the homerooms. Every year the same plea is made, use Christmas seals on all your cards and letters.

But where does the money go after the Christmas seals are thrown away?

Every student at Adams has felt the effects of the money he paid for Christmas seals. This money provided the tuberculin skin tests given to 11th grade students.

Christmas seals also pay for the mobile chest X-ray units which aid in the finding of tuberculosis sufferers. The early detection of the disease is important not only to the patient but to those around him. On the average, each unknown or untreated case of tuberculosis infects seven others.

Money from Christmas seals also helps in the form of research grants to universities and laboratories in the search for a cure.

Other uses are educating the public in the discovery and prevention of TB, and aid to sanatoriums such as Healthwin Hospital.

Area High Schools Plan Christmas Presentations To Be Presented During Early December Weeks

While Adams is planning their big Christmas Vespers service, other schools also are preparing for theirs. On December 14 and 15, Central will present their annual Christmas performance entitled, "The Song of Christmas." This will be a "story of the nativity as told in Christmas songs, carols, and Biblical verses."

It was first performed by Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians. Excerpts from songs and carols will be woven into the narrative on the birth of Christ.

Jackson Plans Incomplete

The glee club at Jackson, led by Miss Ruby Williams, is not yet sure exactly what songs they will perform. They will use some traditional carols though and some other songs such as "March of the Kings," and the German song, "Still, Still, Still."

The glee club plans on processing in with flashlights like the Adams glee club carries, and singing "Gloria." There will be several undecorated Christmas trees on the stage to add background and color.

Mellowettes and Mellowmen to Perform

Color at the Washington High School performance will be provided by the green robes they will wear.

They will sing selections from the "Messiah," and have two soloists, one of whom will sing "Mary's Boy Child."

The Mellowettes, a group of fifteen girls, and the Mellowmen, a group of eighteen boys, will perform also.

John Vogel and Dale Luebke will stage the Christmas presentation at LaSalle High School. Their selections will cover the history of Christmas music with the oldest selection being "Oh Magnum Mysterium," and the most recent will be "O Wonder of This Christmas Night."

LaSalle Starts Tradition

LaSalle, being a new high school, will begin their own annual tradition of having a Christmas Vespers Service this year. They will present a new and in-

Traditional Vespers Program Includes Candle Procession

*"The Heart of Christmas Is Love
The Gladness of Christmas Is Hope
The Spirit of Christmas Is Peace."*

These words set the mood for this year's Christmas Vespers which will be presented by the Vocal Music Department Sunday in the Adams Auditorium at 4:00 p.m.

The program will also be presented for the student body this morning.

The Cadet Choir, The Girls' Chorus, The Mixed Chorus, and The Concert Choir will participate under the direction of Mr. Robert Hoover and Mrs. Janet Leininger.

The highlight of the program will be candlelight procession by the Mixed Chorus and the Concert Choir. A brass ensemble will accompany the singers in the opening fanfare.

Decorations for the program include a large art glass window, flanked by lighted candelabra, Christmas trees, and evergreen boughs. All the choral groups, with a combined membership of over 300, will be dressed alike in blue robes with red accessories.

The program will contain works by Baroque, Renaissance, and modern composers including: "The March of The Wise Men" by Gaul; "Break Forth, A Beauteous Light," by Bach; "Hodie Christus Natus Est," by Palestrina; and "For Unto Us A Child Is Born," by Handel.

Pam Eckenberger will be the featured soloist with the Concert Choir.

The four groups will combine to sing a group of familiar Christmas carols such as "Joy to the World," "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing," and "Silent Night."

The Sunday program is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

for these errors in the last issue: Randy Smith's name was omitted from the staff box on the booster page; Vince Fragomeni's name was not included in the football article on page two; in the cheerleading article the cheerleaders were given credit for the making of posters—these are done by a special committee in Booster Club; Joe Haufaire's name was omitted from the identification under the swimming picture. Once again—so sorry.

Assassination Closes The Assembly At The 3rd South Bend Model United Nations

"If you will vote to keep the UN out of South Africa, I'll support your disarmament proposal," "A vote for the admission of Red China by your country will be considered a hostile action."

Pages were kept busy relaying messages such as these all during the Model United Nations Assembly held at Riley, November 18 and 19.

The first General Assembly session was opened by President Ed Peters from Adams and Secretary General John Moeller from Riley. The keynote address was given by Mr. Kihl Bhote, a native of India, who worked at the United Nations.

Chairmen and Rapporteurs of the committees were also elected at the first plenary session. Cry Olson of Adams was elected Rapporteur of the committee discussing UN intervention in the Republic of South Africa.

Two other committees discussed resolutions on the admission of Red China and nuclear disarmament.

Although there was heated debate in each of the committees, the fiery oratory heard on the disarmament question was probably the wildest. Led by Bob Rosenfeld, the French delegate from Riley, and Richard Rosenstein, Adams delegate representing the USSR, the efforts were to no avail as the resolution was defeated in the general session Saturday morning.

During the course of discussions on the resolution Rosenstein was ejected because of his repeated outbursts.

The resolution on the admission of Red China to the United Nations was also defeated at the second plenary session. The highlight of the discussion on this resolution was the burning of the Israeli flag by one of the Lebanese delegates.

The resolution on UN intervention in the Republic of South Africa was never brought to a vote as the assassination of the Secretary General by one of the delegates ended the Model United Nations for another year.

Organization And Enthusiasm Finally Bring Success To Annual Clothing Drive

Congratulations go out to the Student Council for conducting an unbelievably successful clothing drive. This year's 5,000 pounds of clothes certainly topped the 130 pounds collected last year.

Only through the cooperation and enthusiasm of individual homerooms can a project such as the clothing drive be successful. The student Council encouraged enthusiasm by offering a twenty-dollar prize to the homeroom collecting the most clothing.

Several homerooms, however, did much more than their share to make the drive a success. Homeroom 204 sponsored by Mrs. Schultz collected 152 pounds of clothing. Mrs. Polizotto's homeroom, 239, contributed 176 pounds, Mrs. Black's homeroom 241 gave 392 pounds, and room 125 under Mr. Krouse brought in 560 pounds of clothes.

Finally, Mr. Crow's homeroom 102 collected the staggering total of 1,047 pounds of clothing. All of the 5,000 pounds of clothing will be sent to the needy people in Appalachia.

This year for the first time since the clothing drive has been conducted at Adams, the students responded to the requests of Council to bring their old clothing. The drive was publicized earnestly by Council representatives until many students almost felt that it was their duty to contribute to the drive.

The attitude that it is one's responsibility to support school projects is important to the success of these projects. Since we have seen that this attitude does exist at Adams, let's do all we can to keep it alive and support the coming activities of all school organizations.

Psychological Warfare Lures Shoppers To Christmas Mood And Shopping Bargains

Shoppers—beware! Every time you enter a store from now until the Christmas you will see visions of sugarplums before your eyes. These are a result of the work of the display departments of the various stores.

However, there is a very obvious reason for this. Since so much buying is done at Christmastime, the store owners feel that their customers would be in a better frame of mind if they were exposed to a mild form of "psychological warfare." This "warfare" is waged by the display workers.

There are many ways to put people into a Christmas-y mood, such as trees, wreaths, and of course Santa Claus. Many ideas are gotten at conventions in New York and Chicago, but usually these ideas have to be modified for each individual store.

Sometimes the workers like to dream up their own ideas so that they will be unique. Obviously, this takes a very imaginative person.

Music can also help to set the mood. Although background music is not specifically the job of the display men, they can request certain types of music.

Many problems confront the display workers. One of the biggest is the odd hours which have to be worked, since the displays cannot be set up while there are customers in the store.

One of the most common complaints is that the displays are set up much too early in the season. However, when customers come in early in November looking for gifts, what is there to do but set up the displays?

One of the most clever displays that has been in South Bend for a long time is the Tom Thumb Shop at Robertson's. This is a small shop in which young children can buy gifts for their parents, since adults cannot enter—the door is only three feet high.

The general consensus of the display workers is that their job is a difficult one, but they enjoy doing it since they feel they are helping to sell the merchandise.

FOODS CLASSES CARRY ON FEEDING AND NUTRITION DEMONSTRATION WITH WHITE RATS

Accompanying their study of nutrition, the Foods II class, under the guidance of Mrs. Betty Seaborg, foods instructor, recently completed a feeding demonstration with rats.

In the demonstration they attempted to show that students "get a good nutritional start because their parents feed them food and milk, and when they are old enough to choose for themselves, if they choose poorly, the bad effects do not show immediately."

Two members of the class, Karin Fisher and Kathy Krakowski suggested the idea to the class. They found that the rats for the demonstration were available from St. Joseph County Dairy Council.

Determined to have the demonstration at Adams, Karin Fisher constructed the cages in which the rats were kept for six weeks. The cages were made from wire mesh and cake pans.

The class received the rats on October 3, and the demonstration continued for six weeks. One of the rats was fed on a diet of Coke and potato chips while the other ate from a school plate lunch.

During the first week, the rat on the poor diet gained slightly, but then lost steadily for the next two weeks. He became very nervous and irritable and often hid under the paper in his cage. His feet and tail turned a dark purple.

Meanwhile, the rat eating from the school lunch tripled its weight in three weeks. Its feet and tail remained pink.

After three weeks the diets were switched, and the rat which had been eating Coke and potato chips got the plate lunch. He gained steadily, but never became as active as the other rat, and he continued to hide under the paper in his cage.

The rat which had been on the good diet and was switched to the poor did not at first want to eat the Coke and potato chips. During the first week he ate very little and lost weight. Then he began eating again and his weight leveled off.

During the demonstration, the Foods II class was responsible for the feeding and care of the rats. The Foods I classes also observed the demonstration.

THE SIEVE

That time of year thou mayest in me behold
When yellow leaves, or none, or few do hang
Upon those boughs which shake against the cold,
Bare ruined choirs where late the sweet birds sang.
In me thou see'st the twilight of such a day
As after sunset fadeth in the west,
Which by and by black night doth take away,
Death's second self that seals up all in rest.
In me thou see'st the glowing of such fire
That on the ashes of his youth doth lie
As the deathbed whereon it must expire,
Consumed with that which it was nourished by.

This thou perceivest, which makes thy love more strong,
To love that well which thou must leave ere long.
—WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

This could have been a most depressing vacation. A time of extremes: too much rainy gloom, too much work, too few friends home for too short a time, too much Dr. Zhivago.

Zhivago is an exquisite film, but movingly sad. So moving that for two days I did nothing but compare it with everything in the cosmos. Finally, not intending disrespect, I decided on the following improvements: cast Marlon Brando as the motorcycle escort, substitute a Humphrey Bogart for one of the Stalin posters, and have Rita Tushingham play "Eleanor Rigby" on the balalaika.

CLUB NEWS & ACTIVITY

Several weeks ago, the Tower staff received a letter from the president of the John Adams Forensic Society. The letter read as follows:

Dear Editor,

We of the John Adams Forensic Society wish to thank the Student Council for ratifying our constitution. Formerly the Debate Club, we now have a fresh start in developing students in all types of speaking arts.

Our membership in the St. Joseph Valley Forensic League and the Indiana State Forensic League will allow us to participate with other schools in the area and state. All students are welcome to join, just speak to Mr. Holmgren in Room 301.

Also our thanks goes to the Tower, for their excellent coverage of our activities.

Larry Gutenberg

The Screen Club—For all the movies seen in school, a debt of thanks is owed to the members of the Screen Club.

The dedicated group of students sacrifice their study halls to show movies, bravely withstanding the jeers of their fellow students when a film breaks or a projector doesn't work. Mr. Martin is the sponsor and Ken Van Nevel is president. A major project of this club is the Coke stand at home basketball games.

The Hi-Y—The Hi-Y is a division of the YMCA devoted to male high school students. Here at Adams, Mr. Fick sponsors the Hi-Y. Meetings are held on the first and third Mondays of each month.

Some of the activities which the Hi-Y sponsors are basketball games, a bus trip to a baseball game in Chicago, movies, and the annual Adams Eve dance. The Hi-Y also sponsors the selling of Christmas cards at school and the sale of Christmas Seals. The president of Hi-Y is John Palmer.

The Student Council Reports—The Council would like to announce two projects which are coming up in the near future. During Christmas vacation a party will be held for the children of the migrant workers. Laurie Levatin is in charge of organizing this project.

On January 4, in cooperation with the A.F.S. committee, a subcommittee of Student Council, the Share Their Fare Drive will begin. The purpose of this drive is to set up a fund which enables John Adams to support a foreign exchange student during the school year. The goal this year is 1967 dollars. Chairmen for this drive are Richard Altman and Jan Crane.

Holt To Speak At Dec. PTA Meeting

Dr. Charles Holt, Superintendent of Schools, will be the speaker at the December 6 meeting of the John Adams PTA. "Education Is Big Business" will be the title of the program. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria.

Mrs. J. D. Gibbony, President of the PTA, will preside at the meeting. Devotions will be given by Mr. Jerome Shandy and the Concert Choir will present several Christmas songs under the direction of Mr. Robert Hoover.

The hospitality committee for the evening will consist of Mrs. Harvey Keleman chairman; Mrs. Edward Nugent, co-chairman; and Mrs. Harold Berebitsky.

While John Jacobs was preparing to leave 113 study hall to go to the library, he began talking and disrupting everyone. Mr. Bull, rather annoyed, said, "Jacobs, do you always have to make a grand exit?"

During a caucusing session at the Model United Nations, the Hungarian delegate suddenly embraced the Nicaraguan delegate. Carol Feldman then remarked, "That's international relations!" Bobbi Jacobs then replied, "No, that's an international affair!"

One bright doomsday morning, Nancy Erickson was asked, "Did you get out on the wrong side of the bed this morning?" To this she replied, "My bed fell through, and I crawled out from underneath it! I dare you to put that in Four Corners!" Dare accepted.

There was actually two seconds of complete silence in the fourth hour German class the other day. This terribly shocked the students and Mr. Steinke. By the way, thanks to Robert Lapham for the Four Corners he tells me about during German class.

Now which teacher was it who recommended reading Time, Newsweek, We Were Born Free, U.S. News and World Report, and Playboy?

The Future Holds A Bright Outlook For Continuation Of Team Teaching Program

Are you one of those lucky, lucky, students in one of the two team teaching classes? One is a senior English class headed by Mr. Gerald Kline while the other is a junior social studies class headed by Mr. James Roop. These classes offer a new experience to both teachers and students.

Mrs. Judy Funk, a member of the English team, explained that team teaching is a system by which a group of teachers work in cooperation in preparing the course, deciding on the subject matter and approach, and then do the teaching.

There are 75 students in the English class. They have three teachers, Mr. Kline, Mrs. Funk, and Miss Virginia Rosenfeld. They gather in a large room for movies, lectures, presentations, or a discussion. The students can then be broken up into smaller groups with one teacher working with each of the separate groups. Mr. Kline has stated that compared with a regular class, a team teaching class offers "the best of two worlds."

Team teaching prepares the students for college. Everything is done on a large scale, including the grading. The teachers get together, discuss the grade, and compare notes. In the case of disagreement, the teacher who has spent the most time with the student in question will have the last word about the grade. Mr. Kline points out that the students know they are working toward excellence for three teachers, not just one. One student thinks though, that he is graded solely on tests, for the teacher is not given enough time to get to know the student.

Mr. Roop states that his class is somewhat different from the English class. He works with Mr. Eldon Fretz in teaching 65 students.

Basically the two classes are the same except for subject matter and procedures.

The social studies students study independently half of the time. This is done in the library. After each lecture they have reactor groups of about 15 students with a student moderator in charge.

A normal week would pass as follows: On Monday and Tuesday there would be lectures with reactor periods. On Wednesday one group would go to the library while the second group would have a discussion in the lab. The reverse would occur on Thursday. Friday is then reserved for records, tapes, or tests.

Next year three teachers will be teaching this class. Most of the juniors will be in such a class, and with a new lab being built near the library, next year's team teaching class looks promising.

AN INSIDE LOOK AT THE CAFETERIA SHOWS 19 LADIES AND HOURS OF WORK

Thanks to the work of the nineteen ladies who make up the cafeteria staff at Adams, and also to Mrs. Barbara Winters who plans the menus, the students here at Adams have wholesome, delicious lunches everyday.

Plan Type A Lunch

In planning the menus, Mrs. Winters follows the plan for a type A lunch. This lunch includes milk, protein rich foods, vegetables, fruits, bread, butter or fortified margarine. The work is then divided up into four main groups, baking, main dishes, salads, and sandwiches. There is also a special dishwashing assignment.

When the cafeteria was remodeled, the cafeteria ladies received new equipment. One of the most diversified instruments they have is the schnellkutter. This will mix twenty pounds of meat loaf, cut bread, grate cheese, or chop vegetables.

Quantity Determined by Records

One of the biggest problems the staff has is figuring out how much food to cook. They keep a record of how many plate lunches sold with each particular meal, and when they fix that meal the next time, they try to fix as much as sold the last time. One big factor influencing the amount of food sold and made is the weather.

Fishburgers Sell Well

One item that sells well is fishburgers. Mrs. Winters says they plan to keep on serving them on Friday in spite of the fact that Catholics may now eat meat on Fridays.

CLAY AND WARSAW TEST CAGERS NEXT

Indians And Knights Fall

A much-improved Clay Colonial basketball team will invade the Adams court tonight at 8:00 and try to deal the Eagles their first loss of the young season. Adams will be out to pick up their second straight win of the year and duplicate last year's 71-55 victory over the Colonials. Clay's Dennis Papczynski has been averaging over 20 points.

Tomorrow night, the Eagles will travel to Warsaw to play the Warsaw Tigers. Led by last year's state scoring champion, Charles McKenzie, and Ben Niles, the Tigers loom as a real state powerhouse. In last year's game, Warsaw rallied in the final minutes and downed the Eagles, 72-69.

St. Joe Falls

In their season opener against St. Joe on November 18, Coach Don Barnbrook's mighty Eagles continued the winning ways started by Coach Planutis' football team. The Indians lacked both the power to score and the power to keep Adams from scoring as they easily fell by a score of 88-22.

Phil Williford and Dave Gordon led the scoring with 19 and 15 points, respectively. The starters played only a total of about two quarters and the reserves took over the rest of the time.

Lafayette Falls

Lafayette Central Catholic visited South Bend on November 23 only to be stopped by 74-54 by the Eagles. Adams' height was too great for the Knights to contend with and forced them to make 20 errors compared with only eight by the Eagles.

Adams jumped to a quick 9-5 lead and coasted home from there. At the end of the first period they held a 24-10 advantage. By half-time they increased the lead to 41-22.

Gordon was high scorer with 19 points and shared game honors with Ron Bush of Lafayette. Kent Ross and sophomore Richard Davis followed with 12 each.

Frosh To Travel Twice Next Week

Coach George Griffith's debut as freshman basketball coach proved to be quite successful on Thanksgiving eve, November 23. On their home floor, Adams started their season on a solid note by dumping the frosh from Mishawaka, 38-30.

The Eagles were led by football star Tim Madison. He was high scorer for the team and also led the team in rebounding.

After their first game, it looks as if the freshman team has a shot at improving on the 19-2 record compiled by last year's team. It will take a lot of work, though, as this team appears to lack necessary height.

The frosh will be on the road next week twice. On Tuesday, Riley will be the opposition and St. Joe will challenge them on Thursday. The remainder of their schedule:

Tue., Dec. 6—at Riley
Thu., Dec. 8—at St. Joe
Tue., Dec. 13—Marian
Thu., Dec. 15—at Central
Tue., Jan. 3—Clay
Thu., Jan. 5—Mishawaka
Tue., Jan. 10—Washington
Thu., Jan. 12—Penn
Jan. 17-20—Frosh Tourney
Wed., Jan. 25—at LaSalle
Tue., Jan. 31—at Jackson

TANKERS, GRAPPLERS SEASONS UNDERWAY

The defending state champion swimming and wrestling teams both opened defense of their titles this week and are looking ahead to the rest of their pre-Christmas meets.

Wrestling

Coach Morris Aronson's wrestlers will take on the Central Bears tonight in the new Adams gym. The Eagles matmen hold a string of three straight victories over the Bears and will be looking forward to number four this evening.

In action next week, they will take to the road to challenge Gary Roosevelt and Mishawaka on Wednesday and Thursday, respectively. Both teams dropped overwhelming decisions to Coach Aronson's squad last season.

Swimming

After opening their 1966-67 season last night against Goshen, Coach Don Coar's swimmers will wait until next Tuesday to visit Jackson, another team with a new pool this year.

The following night Culver Military Academy will make their splash into the new Adams pool. Elkhart will visit the Seagles on Friday.

Hadaway's Team Wins First Two

If the first two games of the season are any indication of the future, Coach Dave Hadaway's "B" basketball team can look forward to a successful year. In his second year, Coach Hadaway will be trying to improve on last year's 14-6 record.

In their first outing of the new season, the Beagles outplayed and outscored the St. Joe reserves, 41-20, on the Indians' court. Junior Terry Schaper led the scoring with 15 points.

On Thanksgiving eve Coach Hadaway watched his team play their first game on the Adams court. Once again he was pleased with what he saw, as the Beagles defeated Lafayette Central Catholic, 51-39. Gregg Roberts led the scoring attack with 13 points.

The "B" team's schedule is the same as the varsity's except that they will play their Holiday Tourney a week later. The "B" games start at 6:30.

Adams Girls Swimming Toward Their Goal Of 50 Miles

About twenty Adams girls are spending their Thursday evenings in the new swimming pool. They are all in a Red Cross program that will hopefully end with their receiving an award citing the fact that they have swam a total of fifty miles.

The girls and Mrs. Shirley Miller meet at 7:00 each Thursday and swim for forty-five minutes. The rules of the Fifty-Mile Swim Club say that a minimum of one quarter mile must be swam at a time. This requirement is met by swimming eighteen lengths of the pool without stopping.
